Senator Mack, Sheriff Lappen Hurt in Crash On Highway 76

County Board Head Has Cracked Vertebra in Neck
CHEST INJURED

Car Fails to Negotiate Curve Three Miles North of Greenville

Senator Mike Mack, Shiocton, suffered a cracked vertebra in his neck and two cracked ribs, and Sheriff John Lappen suffered from shock when the car in which they were riding failed to negotiate a curve and turned on its side on Highway 76 three miles north of Greenville about 9 o'clock last night.

Senator Mack, who is chairman of the county board, is confined to St. Elizabeth hospital and his condition today was reported as favorable. Sheriff Lappen was confined to his home today.

The two men were on their way to Shiocton, returning from a Madison business trip when the accident occurred. Sheriff Lappen was driving the car which went off the Kreutzberg curve. The car hit the ditch on the right hand side, veered toward the ditch on the opposite side of the road and turned on its side on the roadway. It was damaged badly.

Senator Mack will be confined to the hospital about three weeks and will be unable to attend the organized meetings of the county board which opens its May session next Tuesday.

Sheriff Lappen had been in Madison to get extradition papers of a man being held in Detroit and wanted here on non-support charge. Senator Mack accompanied Sheriff Lappen and spent the day conferring with state officials.

Secretary Tells About Loans to Congressmen To His Constituents

Gainesville, Ga. —(P)—The pretty blonde secretary of Representative B. Frank Wheeler (D-Ga.) told a federal court jury today that the north Georgia congressman conducted an extensive loan business among his mountain constituents. Called by the prosecution in the trial of Wheeler, accused on eight counts of selling postal appointments, Mrs. Barnett Smith testified the congressman had $18,912.07 on loan to individuals in June, 1939, in addition to $20,000 on deposit with the Motor Finance Corporation of Gainesville.

The secretary also disclosed existence of a "little black box" from which she related, Wheeler occasionally made loans. It was from this box, she said, that the congressman on one occasion doled out $400 in bills to H. Grady Jones, Pickens county commissioner accused as co-conspirator with Wheeler in seven counts.

She added that Wheeler subsequently told her of lending Jones $200 additional, but the latter never paid interest on the loan.

Louis C. George Faces New Federal Charges

New York —(P)—Louis C. George, imprisoned former Madison, Wis., stock broker, was indicted yesterday for the second time in a securities juggling case. He was accused with two other men of conspiracy, mail fraud and market-rigging in stock of the Automobile Products Corporation of Chicago, a New York Curb Exchange listing.

George boosted the market price from $6.50 to $9, government investigators alleged, while unloading 50,000 shares by paying buyers a 50 cents-a-share bonus, promising they would not lose anything.

The other defendants are Moses A. Isaacs, described in the indictment as a veteran New York and Chicago stock market operator, and Joseph Marshall Kirby of Cleveland.

Stop Us If You've Heard It

When a salesman hurries into a lunch-room and orders nothing but bread and milk, ten to one he's either on a diet or on commission. — It's bad manners for a married couple to quarrel on the street. — What've they got a home for? — If railroad trains keep going faster and faster, motorists will find it harder and harder to hit them at the crossings. — So, speaking about classified want-ads, this one was a sale maker:

BLIND FARMER KILLED WHEN TORNADO HITS HOME

It was in this demolished house that Fred Weber, 38-year-old blind farmer, was crushed to death when a tornado struck suddenly near Pontiac, Ill. Weber's mother and sister and a neighbor escaped injury. Unofficial estimates of damage done by the tornado along a 10-mile path ranged from $60,000 to $100,000.

Private Employment Shows Sharp Gain In U. S., Security Administrator Finds

Washington —(P)—Federal Security Administrator McNutt reported today that private employers had hired 18 per cent more persons during March than they did in the same month last year.

"Authoritative reports...," he said, "indicate that there is an increasing demand for workers in industry and commerce. Slowly but surely the level of the country's great reservoir of idle workers is falling..."

Despite the optimism voiced in McNutt's report, it was disclosed today that congressional leaders were weighing a suggestion that additional funds be allocated to the WPA should need arise before the fiscal year closes June 30.

The figures on the March employment increase were made public by McNutt in a statement coincident with President Roosevelt's proclamation designating this as "national employment week."

In connection with the proclamation, McNutt instructed state directors of 1,600 federal employment bureaus and officers of the CCC, the national youth administration and the office of education to cooperate with civic organizations and private employers.

At least three were killed and an unestimated number were injured as tornadoes bounced over southeastern Missouri and Southern Illinois. Seventeen persons from both states were taken to a Cairo, Ill., hospital. Six were hurt at Marion, Ill.

J. E. McNeese, 70, of Richland, Texas, his wife and his son, Carl, 20, were killed when wind demolished their home. The 18-month-old daughter of Mrs. Ted Cook of Frankston, Texas, was torn from her mother's arms by a flood and drowned. A cloudburst washed the Cook family and others from beneath a culvert, where they had taken refuge.

Mrs. Ruby Hawks was killed when a building collapsed during a heavy windstorm at Grand River, Ky. A wind storm uprooted trees and unroofed several buildings at Owensboro, Ky.

Milwaukee Making Bid For Legion Conclave

Milwaukee —(P)—A delegation of city and American Legion officials, carrying Governor Heil's check for $27,050, left today for Indianapolis where they will endeavor to advance Milwaukee's bid for the 1941 national legion convention.

The group, which will confer with the legion convention committee, included Frank Greeny, state department commander; Lawrence Smith of Racine, a past commander; and Gil Stordock, department adjutant.

Mayor Carl F. Zeidler plans to go to Indianapolis tomorrow and is to speak at a meeting of legion officials Friday.

Elderly Madison Woman Asphyxiated in Home

Madison —(P)—Mrs. Mary Andrews, 81, was asphyxiated as she sought to prepare a lunch in her home last night. Coroner Wayne Fisher, terming death accidental, said the woman's eyesight was poor and she apparently was unaware that her efforts to light gas stove burners had failed.

Less Drastic Changes Seen in Wage-Hour Law After Defeat Of Barden Proposals in House

Washington —(P)—Jubilant over defeating the controversial Barden amendments, administration forces in the house pushed ahead today with plans to enact less-sweeping revisions in the wage-hour law.

The proposals of Representative Barden (D-N. C.) were turned down, 156 to 56, late yesterday after the house had made so many changes that even their author withdrew his support.

The original amendments, opposed by President Roosevelt, would have freed a long list of processors of farm products from both the minimum wage and maximum hour standards.

Against this administration victory in the house, however, there developed the probability that the senate would pass a Republican bill to end the treasury's foreign silver buying program.

Senator Townsend (R-De.), the author, opened debate yesterday with an assertion that the "seven-year-old program had been a costly mistake. He was supported by some Democrats as well as by the Republican minority.

Secretary Morgenthau said recently that the treasury purchases had stabilized silver prices and aided many countries "with whom we have friendly relations."

In the wage-hour fight, Representative Barden said he was "not blue" over his defeat yesterday. He turned his efforts toward winning approval of some of his amendments — he would not say which ones.

MacKenzie and Frey to Confer

Heil Must Decide Whether Probe of Department Will be Public

Milwaukee —(P)—Governor Heil said today that next Monday's conference of directors of the state research bureau and the conservation department would be of a "private and confidential nature."

Madison —(P)—Whether the state research bureau headed by August Frey shall conduct a public investigation of the conservation department approached a showdown today with Governor Heil holding the answer.

Frey said he had summoned H. W. MacKenzie, department director, to a conference next Monday afternoon, but emphasized that disclosure of the meeting did not originate with him.

"I notified Mr. MacKenzie that I wanted to see him, but the governor will have to decide whether it shall be a public hearing," Frey said.

The bureau director disclosed previously that his investigators have been examining conservation department records. The request for a conference with MacKenzie, however, was the first indication that direct talks between Frey and conservation officials were about to get underway.

Governor Heil was not at his office and it was not known whether he would return from Milwaukee during the day.

MacKenzie, who arrived at his office this noon, said C. L. Harrington, director of forests and parks, and F. G. Wilson, in charge of cooperative forestry, would accompany him to Monday's meeting.

Frey, who recently drew a rebuke from the governor for making announcements on the progress of bureau investigations, declined to say what he planned to discuss with MacKenzie.

Former Bank Cashier Is Accused of False Entries at Brandon

Fond du Lac —(P)—Frank R. Schwandt, former cashier of the Foster bank at Brandon, was arrested today on a complaint charging him with making false entries in the bank books, converting money from an estate to improper use, and making false statements as an officer of the corporation.

Municipal Judge H. M. Fellenz placed his bond at $2,500 and set a preliminary hearing for May 13. The defendant is a brother of George W. Schwandt, former assistant cashier of the Foster bank, who has been bound over to circuit court on charges of falsifying entries in the bank books with intent to deceive the officers.

A warrant for Frank was not issued until after other persons in addition to the complaining witness—District Attorney George St. Peter—had appeared before Judge Fellenz to testify under oath. The court then found there was reason to believe a crime had been committed.

St. Peter said that in the case of George Schwandt, the state would attempt to prove shortages amounted to $11,000 over a period of six years. Charges against Frank do not specify any particular amount, he said.

Try to Sell More Pork Products in England

Chicago —(P)—A commission representing the American Pork Producers association is going abroad to see what it can do toward stimulating the sale of American pork products in England.

Association members, at yesterday's final session of a two-day meeting, said the British needed pork badly and should be in a position to buy up some of the American supplies.

A committee was chosen to select members of the commission, who will fly to England by clipper plane as soon as feasible.

British Withdraw to New Posts in Dombas Sector After Stubborn Fighting

Norse Holding Off Germans in Storen Region

Doubt Nazi Claims Of Capture of 2 Important Areas

Stockholm —(P)—Unconfirmed reports said tonight that Norwegian forces had re-occupied Storen, vital railroad junction 35 miles south of Trondheim, possibly after German vanguards had abandoned it.

Similar advices said, Roros, 50 miles farther southeast on the railroad from Oslo, also had been re-occupied by the Norwegians.

The German withdrawals, however, were said to have been in line with the Nazi tactics of striking with lightning speed to smash allied communications and then of waiting for reinforcements before taking firm hold of advance positions.

(The Germans have not announced capture of Storen although a Nazi column moving southward from Trondheim was reported unofficially yesterday in London to have taken that railroad junction. The Germans merely said that the Trondheim column had made contact southwest of Storen with another Nazi force moving north of Oslo.)

Swedish reports that Norwegian troops still were occupying positions north of the important railway junction at Storen cast doubt today on German claims that Nazi forces had established land communications between Oslo and Trondheim.

Coupled with these reports were dispatches asserting that a British destroyer had been sunk with heavy loss of life during an 11-hour German air-raid on the allied landing base at Namsos and that the British gradually were closing in on a Nazi force isolated at Narvik, in the far north.

The Stockholm newspaper Tidningen printed a dispatch from a special correspondent declaring that a German column moving south from Trondheim to meet another Nazi force advancing northward from Oslo had been halted before reaching Storen.

It was not clear whether this dispatch was written before or after the German announcement yesterday that the two columns had met south of Storen.

The Tidningen story said the Norwegians still were holding positions a mile north of Storen, after delaying the Germans' southward march at Lundamo, where a young Norwegian had dynamited a bridge so two Nazi cars were crossing the span, killing himself and 18 of the enemy.

Lundamo is about 150 miles north of Storen and 20 miles south of Trondheim.

The German air-raid on Namsos, approximately 100 miles north of Trondheim, was recounted by the correspondent of the newspaper Svenska Dagbladet, who said Nazi bombers attacked persistently from 7:15 a. m. to 6 p. m. yesterday, despite a steady fire from British anti-aircraft batteries.

Two of the German raiders were reported shot down.

The Swedish correspondent said the Nazi bombers concentrated their attack on a British cruiser and a destroyer which had entered Namsos harbor during the night. One bomb fell squarely on the stern of the destroyer, he declared, starting a fire which spread to the magazine and caused an explosion that "blew the entire vessel to pieces."

"Scores of British marines and sailors were believed killed," the correspondent wrote. "The remaining number unknown, were taken aboard the cruiser, which then managed to get out of the fjord."

7 Harvard Students Arrested and Fined For Disturbing Peace

Cambridge, Mass. —(P)—The first riot of spring occurred last night in Harvard square and seven Harvard students were arrested for disturbing the peace. They were fined $5 each today in district court.

The riot, which embodied all the usual features of Harvard square spring disturbances, apparently developed from a combination of the warm evening air and the fact that a group of Massachusetts Institute of Technology students put one over on the Harvard boys "abducting" Eddie "Rochester" Anderson, Negro comedian on the Jack Benny radio program.

Rochester, scheduled to appear at a Harvard smoker, turned up instead at the Delta Kappa Epsilon house at M.I.T. after being persuaded by a group of Dekes to leave his plane at Providence, R. I., and motor to Cambridge.

The comedian thought he was at Harvard until two hours later. The riot, which found some 200 students milling around in the square, followed soon after giving police quite a workout for about an hour.

Pittsburgh Group Offers to Pay Million for Capture of Hitler Before End of Month

New York —(P)—A Pittsburgh group offered today to pay a million dollar reward for the capture of Adolf Hitler, unhurt, but specified that the German fuhrer must be delivered into the custody of the League of Nations before the end of May.

Samuel Harden Church, president of the $28,000,000 Carnegie institute, announced the offer on behalf of an unnamed group, which he said was acting "in good faith," in a letter to the New York Times.

The unusual proposal brought back recollections of a daring post-World war scheme of a group of American soldiers to capture the German kaiser from his refuge in Holland.

In his letter, Church said that Hitler should be delivered "for trial before a high court of justice for his crimes against the peace and dignity of the world."

Plan Long Discussed Church said in a telephone interview with The Times that the proposal had been discussed for some time among some members of the Duquesne club of Pittsburgh after private advices reached them saying Hitler planned an western trip break through on the attempt from soon.

Shortly after the armistice of 1918 a band of Americans who had served with the A. E. F., among them Colonel Luke Lea of Tennessee and Larry MacPhail, now president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, secretly entered Holland and traveled to Kaiser Wilhelm's haven.

According to legend surrounding the adventure, which the participants were reluctant to discuss in later years, the party actually entered Wilhelm's home, but fled when surprised by Dutch guards.

Group Not Optimistic Complaints were made with the state department and Lea and his comrades were placed under military arrest. Disposition of the case never was revealed, but all were released.

Church said his group was not over-optimistic about its chances of achieving its end, but it thought the possibility was worth encouraging.

He added that he had no objection to making the offer in his official capacity as president of the Carnegie Institute since Andrew Carnegie founded a peace organization and believed in "the association of nations with power to enforce peace."

The appeal for Hitler's capture, Church said, was directed to adventuresome youths. He added that he considered it unwise to attempt to deliver Hitler to the league's seat at Geneva, in the event of capture, because the reich's army would overrun Switzerland.

"The proper goal would be England," he said.

Drivers of Milk Wagons Go Out on Strike in Chicago

Chicago —(P)—Several hundred thousand Chicago and suburban residents went without milk and cream for breakfast this morning.

A strike voted by the milk wagon drivers union halted virtually all home deliveries in the metropolitan area.

Drivers stopped work because of a dispute over a new wage contract with the Associated Milk Dealers of Chicago. Their old contract expired at midnight last night.

Negotiations between union representatives and the dealers broke down shortly before 2 a. m. and union officials announced the strike was on.

Fears Threat to Private Savings

Investment Banker Asails Spending Theories of Government

Washington —(P)—Emmet F. Connelley, president of the Investment Bankers Association of America, told the United States Chamber of Commerce today that spending theories of the "government-must-do-it" school might lead to a federal tax on private savings.

The question of government spending was also a major topic last night when the chamber heard Charles G. Dawes, Chicago banker and vice president under Calvin Coolidge, blame President Roosevelt's abolition of the federal coordinating service in 1933 as one of the chief causes of the present condition of chaos in the business system of our government.

The country's next president, Dawes said, would have to combat "the largest army of government spenders, wasters and patronage-seekers" in history if the nation was to escape bankruptcy and ruin.

Dawes submitted a plan for balancing the federal budget, based on methods which he said proved successful at the start of the Harding administration in 1921. Dawes was budget director at that time.

Connelley coupled his remarks on the possibility of a savings tax with an assertion that the federal monopoly committee had refused to give investment bankers a hearing in its study of savings and investments.

English Position Is Called 'Dangerous, Very Obscure'

WATCH ITALIANS

Air Ministry Announces Bombing Attacks on German Airdromes

Rome —(P)—United States Ambassador William Phillips was understood today to have been assured by Premier Mussolini that no war move is contemplated by Italy at present.

Phillips conferred with Il Duce this morning to receive first-hand information on Italy's position and intentions in view of recent international developments.

London —(P)—The war office announced today that British troops "withdrew to prepared positions" in the important Dombas area, 100 miles south of Trondheim, after stubbornly resisting strong German attacks.

The communique, issued after a military spokesman had described the position of British forces in central Norway as "dangerous and very obscure," said, in full:

"At Narvik (Arctic ore port) areas occupied by allied forces have been extended and operations are continuing satisfactorily."

"In the Namsos area (central Norway, north of Trondheim) the situation at the front remains unchanged."

"In the Dombas area our troops, after stubborn resistance in the face of strong enemy attacks, withdrew to prepared positions."

Efforts to relieve the allied forces of the center continued, while the British air force struck savagely at three German air bases in Scandinavia.

Reports Not Confirmed The military spokesman said the British had no confirmation that Storen and Dombas had been captured by the Germans—as reported officially yesterday in Berlin—but said this is "quite possible."

This source declared he was not prepared to speculate on the nature of the developments in Norway since "speculation at this stage may mean the loss of men's lives."

A report yesterday from Namsos described the situation there and in the sector where the allies were entrenched at Steinkjer as "good," he declared.

Gain at Narvik There is no reason for supposing the situation had deteriorated since then, he added.

At Narvik, the allied forces are reported moving closer to the town. There was no attempt by this British force to discount the German announcement that the Nazi forces in Oslo and Trondheim had joined hands.

The source said that if only small parties of troops had made contact this "does not mean there is a constant flow of men and material."

The air ministry announced meanwhile that British planes had bombed German airdromes at Stavanger and Forchun in Norway and Aalborg in Denmark last night, doing "heavy damage."

The announcement said seven British planes were lost and three German planes were known to have been shot down.

Divert Shipping Further attacks were carried out this morning, it was said.

Great Britain, alarmed by growing signs of Italian hostility and intimations that Italy might join Germany in war, has diverted her lifeline shipping from the Mediterranean.

"Pronouncements by Italians in responsible positions and the attitude of the Italian press have been recently of such a character as to make it necessary for his majesty's government to take precautions as regards British shipping which would normally pass through the Mediterranean," said an authoritative statement.

The order that Britain's shipping use the long Cape of Good Hope route around Africa to sidestep Italian power in the Mediterranean was represented as a temporary precaution—to be enforced only so long as necessary.

Gout Remedy Shrivels Tumor Growth in Plants

Washington —(P)—The use of an ordinary gout remedy to kill cancer in plants and animals was described today by two agriculture department scientists.

Tumor growths on both plants and animals can be shrivelled and stopped by merely painting them with the drug, Dr. Hug Dermen and Dr. Nellie A. Brown reported. The drug has not yet been tried on human beings, and the scientists offered no immediate hope for cancer sufferers.

The drug used is colchicine, a chemical obtained from the autumn crocus, which has been used for about 2,000 years in the treatment of gout.

Biggest Month of Delegate Picking Getting Underway

Roosevelt, Dewey Lead Fields as State Groups Are Selected

Washington, May 1.—With President Roosevelt and Thomas E. Dewey ahead in instructed delegates for the Democratic and Republican presidential nominations, the biggest month of delegate picking in the presidential campaign period opened today.

Republicans, who have chosen 514 of their 1,000 delegates, will select 477 in 26 states during May and virtually complete their list.

Democrats have chosen 374 of their 1,000 delegates. They will pick at least 352 more in 18 states in May and leave a sizable number for selecting in June.

Leading with 305 pledged and semi-pledged delegates, it appeared likely today that President Roosevelt would go into the Democratic convention with a comfortable majority either for himself or for a candidate of his choice.

Back Roosevelt

Iowa Democratic leaders appear to have decided to give their 22 convention votes to the chief executive. This was indicated after a conference yesterday between Ed H. Birmingham, state Democratic chairman, Secretary Wallace, and Senators Gillette and Herring.

Herring said the state delegation would be instructed for the president at a convention May 11. If Mr. Roosevelt does not run, he added, Wallace would be given a "favorite son" vote.

In the Massachusetts primary yesterday, 69 of the 72 delegates elected by the Democrats were pledged to Governor General Farley. Two others will go to the Chicago convention at least technically unpledged and the other one, although unpledged, has recorded himself publicly for President Roosevelt. Should the president seek a third term, the delegation—with 34 votes—was expected to support him.

Mr. Roosevelt would not comment on the nomination. Asked whether an agreement reached between his backers and those of Vice President Garner whereby the Texas delegation will be instructed for Garner but will endorse the Roosevelt-Garner administration and declare that it is not part of an "anti-third term" movement.

Garner has declared that he is a candidate whether or not Mr. Roosevelt runs, but Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) and Federal Security Administrator McNutt have made their candidacies contingent on the president's retirement.

Wheeler in Race

Wheeler told reporters in New York yesterday that he could not conceive of Mr. Roosevelt's accepting the nomination. Asked whether that statement did not make him a candidate now, the senator smilingly replied, "that's right."

On the Republican side, unpledged delegates were selected yesterday in Massachusetts and Tennessee. In the former state, primary voters chose a Republican slate-at-large headed by Governor Saltonstall and rejected an old age pension group supporting Dewey without his authorization.

Dewey's supporters in Tennessee expressed confidence that they could control the state's 18 votes, even though the convention did not instruct the delegates.

A statement that the Dewey managers were making "absurd" claims of delegate strength was issued by the Washington headquarters of Senator Taft of Ohio, another candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

It declared Taft would have more votes on the first ballot than anyone else and would be nominated when a majority of the delegates felt "free to exercise their own judgment."

GERMANY CLAIMS CONQUEST OF NORWAY

After lightning German thrusts that linked Oslo with Trondheim, Adolf Hitler appeared in full command of Norway. At Trondheim (1) a German garrison was considered safe after northbound Germans had defeated the British at Stora (2) and joined the Trondheim force. Allies also retreated from Dombas (3). The white section on the map north of Bergen remained in doubt, but was presumably German-dominated. British were believed in control at Narvik (not shown).

War Won't be Won or Lost In Norway but Trend May Have Effect on Neutrals

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

New York, May 1.—There is some dispute whether the Germans actually have established full communication between Oslo and their garrison in the strategic rail-head of Trondheim, but there can be no doubt that the nazis have won a very considerable victory.

Immediate concern of the allies and their supporters has turned to the effect of the blow to allied prestige and the corresponding rise in nazi stock, rather than to the military results.

The war will be neither won nor lost in Norway, but this is a bad time for a major military setback, since it might stampede some nervous neutrals into hasty military commitments.

Quick recognition of this danger came in Britain's sudden order diverting all her mercantile traffic from the Mediterranean—a blunt indication that she was suspicious of Italy's intentions.

So far as one can see from this distance the probabilities are that this sensational move was inspired by precaution rather than any definite sign that Signor Mussolini was preparing to join Hitler. This maneuver also would serve as a warning to Rome to sit tight and not be stampeded by the Norwegian situation.

Doubts Aroused

The British doubts of Il Duce's position have been aroused by the steady stream of anti-ally, pro-German propaganda which has been coming recently out of Italy. However, Rome dispatches report today that there is no sign of any rush to the German side.

There is small doubt that one of these days Mussolini will have to make a quick decision and get into the war. One would expect him to wait something more substantial than the present status of the battle of Norway, however, before abandoning non-belligerency.

In picking the side he wants to fight with, the Italian leader is likely to keep in mind the axiom to which a British official referred the other day—no nation has ever been defeated while having control of the seas. That is a solid thought to chew on. Germany's task is to dispose of the allied fleet.

As regards the actual battle of Norway, there can be no doubt that the allies have a tremendous job ahead of them. They will almost literally have to blast the Germans out if they are to liberate the country.

Allies in Predicament

If the nazis actually have joined their southern and northern forces and thus placed a barrier between the two arms of the Anglo-French expedition, the allies probably will have to abandon their base at Andalsnes, southwest of Trondheim and base further operations at Namsos, the port they hold to the northeast of Trondheim.

The predicament of the allied force based on Andalsnes is serious. The jubilant Germans are preparing to attack this isolated unit with the idea of driving it into the sea.

The tight place the allies find themselves in is due primarily to the fact that the Germans have been able to employ their air fleet to full advantage while the Anglo-French have been hamstrung in this respect. Not only have the Germans had air bases in Denmark, close to Norway, but right at the outset they seized all the north-western Norwegian airports and thereby established bases in the field of operations.

The allies, on the other hand, have to operate largely from home bases, involving long flights. Their planes had to make return flights on their initial load of gasoline, in addition to doing their bombing and fighting over Norway.

Planes Bring Success

That was an impossible handicap. The German success has been due almost entirely to air superiority. Until the allies find a way of challenging that they are not likely to get ahead with their job of evicting the nazis from Norway.

Any suggestion that the allies might abandon the campaign is perhaps well-founded. In a British communiqué which announces in a matter-of-fact that "fresh landings have taken place on the coast of Norway."

I am reminded of an incident I encountered in France during the great German drive of 1918 in the World War. The 51st British division came under a terrific assault by forces out-numbering them 10 to 1. For a full week, day and night, the dogged English had fought, falling back step-by-step.

Their haggard faces were covered with stubble beard and their eyes were like burnt holes in a blanket.

Asks Dickinson Not to Run for Present Position

Ex-Gov. Osborn Ready to Vote for Democrat, He Tells Executive

Possum Lake, Ga. — (AP) — In an open letter to Governor Luren D. Dickinson of Michigan, Charles S. Osborn, former governor, today said "If you are nominated as Republican candidate for governor and run against a man of the type of Murray D. Van Wagoner, I am going to vote for support of your opponent."

Dickinson and Osborn are Republicans, Van Wagoner is the Democratic state highway commissioner of Michigan.

Osborn declared that "many others feel the same, and more will when they realize what a deplorable mess you are making by your drifting, weak, laissez-faire policy."

Osborn charged in the letter that "you are not fit to be governor of Michigan, and you ought not to be a candidate."

The letter is one of several written by the former governor to the present chief executive. They are longtime friends and both are more than 80 years old.

Has No Enemies

"Not a soul in Michigan has anything against you," declared Osborn. "The people all respect you—some of them to the point of reverence. That is right. Now pick out your man and make him governor, if you wish, but erase yourself."

Osborn concluded his lengthy communication with this paragraph: "I have no special personal God with an unusual connection such as you claim to possess. Many persons who really wish you well, as I do, think you are mistaken in thinking you have any mortgage on the Deity and His care and affection and direction. You say that you are inspired. I feel about half inspired myself. And maybe entirely so. In this attitude of mind and heart I am praying for you and for Michigan. Osborn said he was a strong advocate of young leaders in public affairs and renewed his endorsement of Thomas E. Dewey, Michigan-born lawyer, for the Republican presidential nomination.

Texas May Have Major Voice In Fate of Third-Term Move

BY W. B. RAGSDALE

Washington, May 1.—Democratic politicians have been eager for harmony in Texas because it might readily be a key to the third-term door.

Some figured that if any direct fight were made in convention against a third term, its inspiration might come from Texas because of Vice President Garner's candidacy. And many of the third-term advocates felt that if President Roosevelt is to be prevailed upon to accept a third-term candidacy, the nomination must come with an appearance of unanimity.

A hot fight in convention over a third-term nomination probably would raise grave doubts about his acceptance. Moreover, it might leave a sting and swell the Republican vote in November.

From the outset, the campaign in behalf of Vice President Garner has proceeded on the theory that Mr. Roosevelt would adhere to the two-term precedent and not be a candidate.

No Attack on F. D. R.

Even in Wisconsin, where the fighting was sharp, the shooting by the Garnerites was not at President Roosevelt but at third-term advocates. They called it an "attempt of office-holders and would-be bosses to ride into office on the coat-tails of President Roosevelt."

What had happened was that Garner, who had helped maneuver some of the New Deal program through congress but had opposed certain White House measures, had become a symbol and a rallying point for anti-New Dealers in the party. Close friends of the vice president always have contended that there was no basic dispute between him and Mr. Roosevelt.

Ten days ago, Garner forces in Texas distributed a resolution in the state which they proposed to have the state convention adopt. The first section was devoted to praise of Mr. Roosevelt and the achievements of his administration. But they want the Texas delegation for Garner as long as his name is in the running.

Child Injured by Car Backing From Driveway

Two-year-old Barbara Jane Hartzheim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Hartzheim, 1108 N. Durkee street, suffered a broken leg and bruises when she was struck by a car in the driveway at the Hartzheim home about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Miss Lois Smith, 1106 N. Durkee street, was backing the car from the driveway when the child was struck. It was reported to police. The condition of the injured child was reported as fair this morning at St. Elizabeth hospital.

Dr. Flory to Address Valley Underwriters

Dr. Charles D. Flory, associate professor of education at Lawrence college, will address a dinner meeting of the Fox River Valley Association of Life Underwriters Friday night at Oshkosh. The title of his talk will be "Assets and Liabilities as Reflected in the Psychological Mirror."

They used to fall in their tracks and sleep when a lull came in the battle. On the seventh day a little balloon came floating over from the German side. To it was attached a note written by a German officer who had lived in England for many years. He said: "Good old 51st! Still sticking it! Cheerio."

Says Roosevelt Is Only Democrat Who Can Win Election

Washington, May 1.—Senator Herring (D-Iowa) expressed the opinion today that President Roosevelt is the only Democrat who could be sure of defeating any Republican presidential candidate.

Herring, who is expected to head an Iowa delegation slated to support Mr. Roosevelt at the Democratic national convention, said he was satisfied that the president could carry the election.

"Under present conditions," he told reporters, "I think President Roosevelt is the only Democrat who can be sure of winning this year. There is not going to be any landslide either way in this election—it is going to be close."

"Maybe there is another man in the Democratic party who can command the popular support the president does, but I don't see him now."

Mortgage Adjustments Proposed by Sen. Wiley

Washington, May 1.—Legislation authorizing adjustment of mortgage indebtedness of certain borrowers from federal land banks was proposed yesterday by Senator Wiley (R-Wis.).

He introduced, at the request of Wisconsin farm groups, a bill (S. 3878) to permit such adjustment with the approval of the farm credit administration governor for any borrower in default on principal or interest on his mortgage loan.

The favorable recommendation of the National Farm Loan association through which the loan was made would be needed under the Wiley proposal. It also would require that the governor and the bank first determine that the indebtedness was "excessive and that the association would sustain a loss in the event of the foreclosure of the mortgage."

Committee Will Recommend Power Flusher for City
New Machine Would Replace Obsolete Horse-Drawn Equipment

The purchase of a combination power flusher and eductor will be recommended by the street and bridge committee at a meeting of the city council tonight.

The new machine would replace the present horse-drawn flusher which have been in use back down the years. Mayor Goodland proposed the change in his annual address to the council April 16 telling the council the "old flushers have outlived their usefulness." The eductor would be used for cleaning out catchbasins.

The committee will recommend awarding the contract for metal curb and gutter forms to the Metal Forms Corporation, Milwaukee. The firm's low bid was $498.50.

Lillie Construction company will be recommended for the construction of new sidewalks and the raising of old walks while the low bid of the Charles A. Green and Son company on tar for road use was approved. Bids on ready mixed concrete were rejected by the committee.

The low bid of the Quarry Products company, Newark, for key-stone for street purposes will be recommended for acceptance. The firm's bid was $1.568 per cubic yard.

A guard rail on Opechee street from the east end of Pacific street bridge south 36 feet and sidewalks on E Grant street from N. Drew street east on the south side of the street also will be recommended.

Lecturer Contrasts Poverty of India With U. S. Abundance

Contrasting the poverty-stricken areas of Java and India with the abundance of the United States, Jim Wilson, author, lecturer and world traveler, came to Appleton high school Monday with a message of optimism for his youthful audience.

Three hundred and seventy million Javaneses live on an average income of $21 yearly," he pointed out. "The poorest family on relief in the United States lives handsomely by comparison. There are 875 inhabitants per square mile."

Dramatizing his adventures as he told them, Wilson described his "well-chaperoned" photography tour of Italy. Although he set out to photograph the common workmen, officials took it upon themselves to escort him so efficiently that he succeeded only in getting pictures of the "show spots" of the new Roman empire.

Wilson told of the story of Tommy of Albania as a typical example of the superiority of the American way. Tommy came back because the depression had deprived him of his job in the steel mills of Cleveland. He found the primitive living conditions of his own people so intolerable by comparison, however, that he decided to come back to the United States and weather his misfortune in a land where there was some opportunity for hope. Shortly after Tommy left his country was annexed by Italy.

Doerfler Is Given Road Oil Contract

The county highway committee Monday awarded L. L. Doerfler, Appleton, a contract for furnishing the department with road oil at .0452 cents per gallon. Seven bids were considered.

The committee met with tax payers of the town of Freedom on possible improvements on County Trunk F. Bills amounting to $789.69 for materials were allowed.

Committee Inspects Remodeled Building

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., Raymond N. LeVee, architect, and the city council's public grounds and buildings committee yesterday inspected the remodeled city hall for defects which would have to be corrected before the contract is completed. The contractor was Nimmer and Lemke Construction company, Kaukauna.

Class Interests Impairing Work Of Job Creation

Business Must Organize
Against Selfish Groups,
Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—This is the week in which business men from all parts of the country come to the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and hear speeches and debates on the subject of government policy. And this is the week in which as a rule the left wing radicals have pointed out the selfishness of the business men as obstructionists of social progress.

But some day when the business men gather in Washington there will be an appreciation of what the job-makers of America really do—the risks they take and the problems that beset them in meeting pay rolls. Unfortunately most business men know very little about politics and hence they are not active in meeting the barrages of political intrigue that are leveled through congress and the whole legislative process at the management of American enterprise.

The atmosphere this year is not much different from other years. The delegates of course reveal a sense of awareness of the extent to which public regulation has crept into or encroached upon private management. But it is doubtful whether the business men realize the true extent to which public ownership and public regulation doctrines have become entrenched in the halls of congress.

whole with an idea of creating a balanced relationship between income and outgo. If business management is to be controlled indirectly or directly by government and burdens are to be piled on the free enterprise system, the chaos which so many of the economic planners here have been anticipating as eventual justification for further exercise of governmental power will certainly come to pass.

Organize For Defense

Business men keep their minds fixed on their daily tasks and actively take time to participate in making public policies. But the day is not far distant when the business men will be meeting here and elsewhere to organize the remaining classes of America in defense against selfish groups who are being exploited by a few.

Big corporations are weathering the storm because they have ample resources, but small businesses are finding it more and more difficult to keep in competition. Thus job-creation is being impaired because business men are not aware of the immense problem that confronts them in a congress dominated by class interests.

Business men may not like politics, but they will find that active participation in political affairs and a presentation of their case to their respective communities is about the only way they will save the free enterprise system. They will not save it by speech-making or denunciations in Washington but by legitimate debate with and persuasion of their fellow citizens back home, especially in electing the next congress.

Public Backs Newspapers in Fight for Right to Criticize Judicial Decisions in Print

BY DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

Princeton, N. J.—Should newspapers be allowed to criticize the decisions of court judges?

The vote of those with opinions was:

Missouri Voters
Papers Should Be Allowed to Criticize Judges 75%
Judges Should Be Free From Criticism 25%

Nation's Voters
Papers Should Be Allowed to Criticize Judges 75%
Judges Should Be Free From Criticism 25%

This issue is stirring wide debate throughout Missouri and other parts of the country in the wake of the sentence imposed on the St. Louis Post-Dispatch for contempt of court in criticizing a St. Louis circuit judge. The newspaper, fighting the sentence on appeal, threatens to take to the highest court the issue of the right to criticize judicial decisions in print.

A special survey conducted in Missouri indicates that, in the view of the court of public opinion, newspapers should remain free to criticize judges' decisions if they wish to. An overwhelming majority of Missouri voters—more than seven in every ten—take this view in the survey, and a similar study throughout the country shows that the rest of the nation shares this attitude.

The issue put to voters in Missouri and elsewhere by the American Institute of Public Opinion was as follows:

"Which do you think is more important—

A. That newspapers should be allowed to criticize the decisions of judges, or

B. That judges should be free from such criticism?"

all branches of government open to criticism." Many likewise declared that the right to criticize judges is part of "free press and free speech."

The minority who, on the other hand think that judges' decisions should be free from newspaper criticism argue that the courts know more about the facts in a case than the newspapers, and that judges should be "independent of public pressure."

Dr. Helen Calmes, 109 S. Appleton street and Dr. Eliza Culbertson, 123 S. Appleton street, left today to attend a meeting of osteopaths in Milwaukee today and Thursday.

Revised Rate Is Asked For Sewers Not in Use

The Buchholz Sanitary district, town of Harrison, has applied to the city council for revised sewerage rate for persons not using the sewers because of the lack of water. The council has set a rate of $12 per year for homes but, the district claims, the sewers are not being used. A request from the district for water service has been refused by the council which will consider the request for the revised rate tonight.

The group is composed of personnel men of paper mills of the Fox river valley and north-central Wisconsin. About 35 men are expected.

Sherwood Play Plea for U. S. Intervention, Clapper Says

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—I hope this will be read in the spirit in which it is written. Underneath the surface of public discussion, Washington is deep troubled. The reason is that serious doubt exists as to whether the allies can win the war. Not much is being said publicly, but anxious thought is being given to the future, not to the immediate future so much as to the middle and distant future, the future that is shaping the rest of the world and which is bearing down with the ominous darkness of a twilight storm as the tragic months advance. Norway has had a profound effect.

An incident of first rate national meaning was the tryout here last week of a new war play, the Alfred Lunt-Lynn Fontanne production of "There Shall Be No Night," by Robert E. Sherwood. I am not a dramatic critic and I call attention to this play only because it may have a deep influence upon national feeling about the war. Sometimes plays are more potent than statements in stirring and directing the impulses of a people.

This play, depicting the tragedy of Finland, seemed to me a rank, inflammatory job, pleading for intervention, sneering at our reluctance to go in. America, still hesitant to plunge into the burning ruins of Europe, was compared to Pontius Pilate, callous and cowardly, evading a responsibility.

Because all of this left me cold, notwithstanding the neat craftsmanship of the playwright and the cast, I was the more impressed that it played to capacity audiences, which are traditionally undemonstrative here, and sent them away moist-eyed. Most of those who saw the play were swept off their feet. Unfortunately, the audiences were predominantly women who are suckers for emotional crusading of the kind which this play stimulates.

Play on Broadway This Week: May Four Country

This week the play opens on Broadway and, who knows, before long road companies may be touring the country, winning audiences every night in favor of our entering the war, and releasing the suppressed urge to get in and help exterminate such monstrous conquerors and destroyers of civilization. The audience response to this play, I suspect, is more revealing than the polls, because it foretells what people will be feeling next week, or next month, or next year if the war continues to spread.

I call attention also to a too-little-noticed speech by Lord Lothian, the British ambassador at St. Louis ten days ago. It is important not because it might be British propaganda that they are the last bastion of freedom in Europe.

"If we went down there would be nothing left in Europe, Asia and Africa which could resist totalitarian domination," he said.

He recalled that Britain has supported the Monroe doctrine and that its security has rested upon the fact that the naval bases on both sides of the Atlantic have been in the hands of powers which supported it.

Lothian Says 19th Century System Is "Beyond Repair"

"As a matter of fact," Lord Lothian added, "the old 19th century system has gone beyond repair. We are no longer strong enough to sustain it by ourselves. At the moment you and we share sea power between us, as parity implies. Under present conditions we are predominant in the Atlantic, you in the Pacific. The future depends largely upon what respectively we do with our power, each in our own sphere."

Officials, and no doubt some of those who hope to take over the government after the coming election, are thinking of these questions, of what effect a Hitler victory would have not only upon Europe, but upon our defense in the Atlantic, upon Japan in the Far East, and upon our internal affairs as we took a new stance to deal with a different world.

How can we best proceed to protect ourselves against these possibilities? Is it any wonder that men who take their responsibilities seriously, are troubled as they think of the future?

The castor bean, from which castor oil is taken, is a native of Africa but is grown in most warm-weather countries.

THE EMPLOYEES ASSOCIATION PROTESTS

The Wisconsin State Employees Association has made specific objection to the recent reorganization of the Department of Taxation by which six district officers were abandoned and a considerable number of auditors and clerks in the remaining offices dismissed.

Hearty approval must be given the Employees Association for the manner of approach and discussion of the subject adopted. They predicate everything upon an "intensive research study" and the literature so far released by them is noticeable for the absence of plastered accusations. In other words the appeal is to reason. And an appeal to reason must be met by reason.

In the effort to reduce the cost of Wisconsin's government, which has grown, extraordinarily during the last ten years, no one anticipated, we hope, that needed employees would be turned loose and needless ones retained, although the task of reporting intelligently upon who should be released is not an easy one.

The Employees Association contends that the records of the Tax Commission show "that the discontinued offices collected $379,340.33 in additional unreported taxes in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1938," and they emphasize that "these collections were made from income taxpayers who had filled out their returns incorrectly, who had made erroneous or illegal deductions in their returns, or who simply had not filed returns."

This makes a strong prima facie case. Here then was a body of men securing high returns for the state in a perfectly legitimate and commendable manner since it is of vital importance to all of us that none escapes his obligations.

The Association continues by completing the picture. It shows that the cost of this additional tax collection was about 10 per cent of the amount recovered and that therefore the state was a net gainer to the extent of 90 per cent of that amount.

The field of taxation simply must not be let run to quackgrass. Incomes are about as elusive as butterflies. The authorities meet up with some wanton theft by taxpayers who wouldn't pay $10 out of a $10,000 income if they could avoid it. In addition there is no end of misunderstanding of the law, a condition for which the taxpayers are not responsible and that should be somehow brought to a stop so that when people learn what their obligations are their education may last at least for two legislatures.

In trying to economize in government it must not be forgotten that there are two sorts of leaks. Paying out money to a great corps of employees is one of them. But not getting the state's normal income from its lawful sources is equally important.

FIGHTING THE LOCOMOTIVE GOD

Since the paralyzing principles of Socialism still rule Wisconsin in certain particulars nothing of course can be done about making an hour of military instruction a week at the university a positive ingredient in the education of the people of Wisconsin furnish to the youths at a cost of many millions a year.

But we might at least take some step to release an apparently valuable professor from the tyranny of the locomotive god that hangs around the corner near his house and threatens to run him over if he leaves the premises.

If we cannot be practical enough as we equip thousands of young men for the best positions in the state at the best salaries in industry, business, agriculture and the professions, to make them learn something about protecting the commonwealth from actual foes, let us continue with our dance of delirium and teach them at least to protect professors from locomotive gods.

It should be easy enough up at Engineering Hall to build a great contraption of painted iron so monstrous and terrifying as to even paralyze a locomotive god. It would be simpler just to get a modern tank out of the army. But in Wisconsin can we encourage that much recognition of the army?

WAR GUILT

Those who, fortunately or otherwise, have not sufficient years to have lived through World War No. 1 should be introduced to the custom of those engaged in bloody conflict to issue statements called a White Book or a Blue Book or any kind of a book depending upon the color of the cover and not the nature of the contents, with the purpose of fixing guilt for the bloodshed. Singularly enough every such book indicates that the issuing nation is blameless and the enemy is nothing short of a designing villain.

Now, the book of Sir Neville Henderson, English ambassador to Berlin until the war broke out, may have been written for the usual propaganda purposes, but impresses one favorably because of its seeming attempt to state the situation fairly.

One of its outstanding features, we believe, is the description of the very slender and delicate threads upon which have always depended the peace of the world.

Rumor is a malignant hag pouring poison into everyone's ears. Pride is a stony-hearted and soulless hypocrite, prodding everyone to make decisions feverishly, hurriedly, thoughtlessly and angrily.

Of course, Sir Neville covers a period of several years in Germany's preparation for war. He points out that the mobilization of the Czech troops in May, 1938 was just "a case of nerves." He sent his own careful observers to travel like lightning through the frontier regions but discovered the story of abnormal German troop movements was baseless.

Nerves, in fact, had become so bad that Goering nearly jumped out of his chair when he heard a blast from some demolition works nearby and declared, "Those cursed Czechs have begun it."

The author is rather kind with Hitler, says he liked Goering, but detested the "maligant influence" of Henimmler, Ribbentrop and Goebbels because having the most satanic effect upon final decisions. He says that they fabricated "lies for the sole purpose of exciting Hitler" and declares that no fires in Dante's inferno can ever be hot enough to burn the evil out of Ribbentrop.

But, of course, lies have always been poured into the ears of autocrats simply because the laws forbade that degree of free speech which alone can account for the truth.

BUT WILL MR. FORD HAVE FREE SPEECH TOO?

The language of Justice Murphy sounded smooth and rolling in the recent opinion of the supreme court which set aside as invalid certain state efforts to infringe upon the right of picketing.

Justice Murphy said that one of the primary essentials of free government was the protection at all times of free speech and a free press "to the end that men may speak as they think on matters vital to them." He continued to the effect that "free discussion concerning the conditions in industry and the causes of labor disputes appear to us as indispensable to the effective and intelligent use of the processes of popular government to shape the destiny of modern industrial society."

Intentionally or otherwise the learned justice took an awful swipe at the Wagner Act. Intentionally or otherwise he put his knee right in the groin of the labor board and then upercut the board under the jaw.

For the Wagner Act was so drawn as to forbid employers not only from speaking but smiling or glancing or wiggling their ears if the smile or glance or wiggle might be construed by a CIO labor butcher into a reflection upon the highborn aristocracy of his union.

We rejoice in Mr. Justice Murphy's opinion but we expect, of course, that it will eradicate the smelly ruling of the labor board against the Ford Motor Company which declared the company guilty of a criminal act because it circulated literature which took the labor unions to task for some of their delinquencies. The Wagner Act and the Labor Board were built and have proceeded upon the basis that labor was a perfect little angel.

Genuine free speech seems to have returned to the land again. The little tyrants of the Wagner Act and the puny little despots of the Labor Board have all had their brief hour and it has seemed much too long at that.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

WHEN THE QUARTET SINGS

The pleasant days that have gone by
With all their quiet happenings
Come back to mist our aging eye
When the quartet sings

The tuneful songs of Germany,
Some of them sounding nevermore
In a dark land that once was free,
Come tumbling into our heart's door.

All that we longed for in the Past,
The hope that in a young heart sings,
We never interpreted at last,
When the quartet sings.

The rollicking songs of our youth,
The ballads of a former day,
Return with loveless and truth,
To make the present moment gay.

We wander in a happy land
Of childhood where our horror flings
Shadows we cannot understand,
When the quartet sings.

Dear singers of old-fashioned songs,
Sing loudly that the world may be Made up of gay, lighthearted throngs
Whose lives are set in harmony!

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN
Washington—Rear Admiral Joseph K. Tausig's remark that "war with Japan is inevitable" wasn't the only bombshell in his sensational speech before the senate naval affairs committee. There was another that—at the last minute—he didn't fire.

Halfway in his prepared manuscript, immediately following the paragraph warning that the consequences of modern warfare are so far-reaching that the "overthrow of our form of government" is not improbable, was this startling statement:

"Our financial structure, none too sound at present on account of the huge public debt, cannot stand such a strain."

Tausig's speech was a hot dig at the New Deal when he read his prepared paper, but newsmen didn't know it because no copies of the speech were distributed. A member of the committee, who later happened to glance through the manuscript, discovered the interesting omission scratched out in pencil by Tausig.

Whether the rear admiral backed away on the advice of navy superiors, or because of his own caution, is his secret. Whatever the reason, he passed up the brickbat when he got before the committee.

TOUGH MUG

The ceremony commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Pan-American union was a swank gathering made up entirely of top-flight officials and diplomats. No one could get in without an engraved invitation. Nevertheless the secret service was on hand in numbers, and while the president spoke, they maintained a sharp watch on the audience.

Especially was this true of a rookie agent who was "covering" Roosevelt for the first time. The zealous youngster spotted a baldish, square-jawed, athletic gentleman in the front row, and after eying him suspiciously for a while inquired of an older agent, "Say, who is that tough-looking mug over there?"

"He isn't a mug," grinned his colleague. "He's Justice Stanley Reed of the Supreme court."

BOUQUETS AND BRICKBATS

In Washington, Representative Graham A. Barden is getting plaudits from anti-administration cronies for putting through his bill axing the wage-hour law, but down in his North Carolina district he is fighting for his political life.

His opponent is challenging him squarely on the labor issue—and doing it to music.

The enterprising rival is Charles L. Abernethy, Jr., small-town lawyer who has twice given Barden hot election battles, and whose father held Barden's seat for twelve years. Abernethy's campaign methods are a combination of those made famous by Texas' crooning Governor ("Pass-the-biscuits-pappy") O'Daniel and a movie "bank night."

Abernethy doesn't sing himself, but he has a quartet of crooners who do. They furnish the music for a "country store" stunt that is packing them into his meetings in droves.

It consists of a free raffle of sacks of flour which Abernethy carts around from town to town. Everyone who attends his meetings is given a ticket with a number. After a program of songs and a speech by Abernethy, a large baking powder can is placed on the platform and numbers picked from it by a blind-folded youngster. To each winner Abernethy presents a big sack of flour, accompanied by this hot jab at Barden:

"He is taking bread out of the mouths of working people by his bill which would put them back on a ten-cents an hour wage basis. I'm putting the bread back in the mouths of these poor folks."

CROONING GOVERNORS

It looks as if Texas is sure to have another crooning governor in the executive mansion, no matter what happens. There are a lot of candidates contending for the seat of W. Lee O'Daniel, and one of them is the colorful, clowning Jerry Sadler, Texas Railroad Commissioner.

At the last election, O'Daniel was brash enough to urge Texas to vote against Sadler, so now Jerry has hired himself a swing band and is out to outcroon O'Daniel for the governorship.

Jerry Sadler's brother runs the Harvey Sadler tent shows, so that Jerry comes by his political grandstanding honestly. His hill-billy swingsters now rival O'Daniel's family radio act, especially since Texas radio stations are now trying to turn thumbs down on O'Daniel.

However, while most of the radio stations play the vast majority of the newspapers in the Lone Star State are dead against Texas' crooning governor, it looks as if he is sure to be re-elected.

Reason is that he still has the old folks with him, and also the big oil companies. The oldsters, to whom he once promised liberal pensions, are convinced that O'Daniel was blocked by a hostile legislature, while the oil companies have found O'Daniel one of the most cooperative governors in years. In fact, he has come to be known as the rich man's friend elected by the poor people.

Before handsome, white-haired Paul McNutt embarked on his campaign tour he had a very trying encounter with the senate appropriations committee, which asked him to explain how come there are 120 lawyers on his federal security administration staff.

Senator Kenneth McKellar, veteran Tennesseean, read off a list of seven, eight and nine thousand dollar salaries received by these attorneys, and then inquired, "What on earth do they all do?"

"Interpret the law," replied McNutt. "Do they all work at this all the time?"

"Oh, yes."

"How do you think they'll begin winding up this interpreting sufficiently so you can start letting some of them go?"

"We don't intend to let any of them out. We want to add three more."

"Three more?" cried McKellar. "What for?"

"To interpret the law."

"How long will it take before the law is interpreted?"

McNutt gave up. "I'll let the chief counsel explain that," he said, turning to Chief Counsel Harper Fowler, who revealed that in addition to its corps of 120 attorneys in Washington, the FSA also has staffs of lawyers in most of its state branch offices.

MERRY-GO-ROUND
Three senators are in the running for key-note at the Democratic convention—Barkley of Kentucky, Byrnes of South Carolina, and Lee of Oklahoma. Barkley keynoted at the 1936 convention, but because he is a "favorite son" candidate, he may be passed over for someone else. . . . One of the delegates chosen by Iowa Republicans is Mrs. Norma Haugen Johnson, daughter of Gilbert Haugen, for years chairman of the house agriculture committee and co-author of the famous McNary-Haugen farm bill twice vetoed by Coolidge, who by Hoover. . . . Maybe the wish is father to the thought, but a recent issue of "The Republican" features a story on dark horse candidates who have won in the past. There were five of them: two Democrats, James K. Polk and Franklin Pierce, and three Republicans, Rutherford B. Hayes, James A. Garfield and Warren G. Harding. . . . Politicians are taking with a large grain of salt the disclaimer put out by a "spokesman" of Senator Burton Wheeler that he would not accept second place on the Democratic ticket. The boys say that not only would the Montanan jump at the chance but that the real object of his hit-and-run campaign is to land the vice presidency. A Bystander In Washington

BY JACK STINNETT

Washington—A couple of Odonotoglossum Alexandrae to Rep. John M. Vorys of Columbus, Ohio.

The other evening at a social gathering, Mr. Vorys took the floor and demonstrated that he is a master of satire.

His audience was too small. So — although I'm sure I'll turn up missing Mr. Vorys' personal appearance—I'm going to risk passing it on.

Mr. Vorys' "lecture" was on "War and Peace." Explaining that he was a famous professor, schooled in foreign affairs, Mr. Vorys let it out that he "accompanied" Under-secretary of State Sumner Welles on his recent mission abroad. He could not "divulge" any of the great Wellesian discoveries but with charts and figures he had prepared from observation and research, a few enlightening conclusions on war and peace might be drawn.

Now, There's China—

Mr. Vorys started with the slaughter in China, where there is no official war. He summed up with the startling information (he made up the figures) that some 10,000,000 persons had been killed.

Shifting to Poland, which never was officially at war with Germany, Mr. Vorys estimated that 300,000 had been killed there.

Then, there was the matter between Finland and Russia where another 250,000 spilled their "life's blood on the field of battle—in spite of the fact that the two countries were not "at war."

Even in the United States, Mr. Vorys explained—this great nation which has been blessed with peace for several years now—from 80,000 to 100,000 persons die violently every year.

BUT, said Mr. Vorys, the Allies and Germany are at war. On the Western Front stalks Monstrous Mars, wielding his sword in Martian gloom.

War Dead: 118

And what happens? After seven months, there were 118 killed, including two fellows who fell 22 stories down an elevator shaft in the Maginot line on New Year's morning.

"The conclusion," says Mr. Vorys, pontifically, "is almost too obvious to necessitate statement. It isn't war that kills people, it's PEACE."

I can hardly wait until Mr. Vorys' great theory reaches the four corners of the civilized world and pressure acts to work.

Perhaps Japan could be persuaded to declare war on China and end that crazy slaughter. Maybe new world organizations would spring up: "The Society to Prevent Peace" or an IOTMHDWOTW—"International Organization To Make Hitler Declare War On The World." What a relief it would be if the world were at war with Adolf Hitler and young men didn't have to die in needless peace.

An Old Stunt—

Washington, I am sure, must be one of the most naive capitals of the world. His comments, although among the best informed anywhere, are the last to suspect perfidy.

When the Nazis took Norway, the Washington observers creased their brows and couldn't believe Nazi political infiltration started so many months, even years ago, that the business of clipping Norway's wings was merely a matter of regimenting traitors.

Yet I talked to one of the men in the army today who beat his head, and said: "Lord, yes, I should have known. I talked to hundreds of Belgians after the war—I was stationed there—and over and over heard the stories of how the Germans took scores of towns by false orders and by driving a crowd of them a small army of Belgian peasants, so the defenders could not shoot without murdering their own blood. The Nazis aren't doing anything new. It's just that we've forgotten German methods of warfare—which are the cleverest in the world."

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, April 30, 1930

Plans were being made by local railroad men for a surprise celebration at Appleton Junction that night when Thomas Hayes, a veteran engineer on the Chicago and North Western railway, was to pilot his last train through the city. An engineer for 49 years, he was retiring from service on pension.

Joseph Kools, son of Mrs. Dorothy Kools, 802 S. Memorial drive, was to be ordained into the Catholic priesthood at the Green Bay cathedral the following Wednesday.

Mrs. Frank J. Schneller and Mrs. J. P. Canavan of Neenah entertained a number of guests at a 1 o'clock luncheon at the Hotel Atherton in Oshkosh a short time previous. Those who attended from Appleton included Mrs. E. F. Cooney, Mrs. John Balliet and Mrs. W. J. Foote.

Japan's ultimatum to China granted a delay of 48 hours. The travelers Iolanthe, Hero, Northland, H. O. Hector, Progress, Coquette, Boo White, Rugby and Uxbridge were reported to have been sunk by German submarines Monday.

The rainfall that week had amounted to .62 of an inch, more than double the precipitation of April.

At a meeting of the Charles O. Baer camp, Spanish American War veterans, William Lehmann was elected delegate to the state encampment to be held at Marinette in June and William Burke was named alternate.

From 1933 through 1939, engineers and geologists found and developed new oil reserves amounting to more than 12 billion barrels.

A TROJAN HORSE ON WHO?

Under the CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—Most students of Wisconsin politics today will tell you that Senator Robert M. LaFollette faces the fight of his life in his campaign for reelection this year. There are those who are ready to predict even now that LaFollette is ending his service in the United States senate with the present session.

Others, more moderate in their predictions, hold that LaFollette's position is precarious, but that a united front of New Dealers of both Democratic and Progressive brands may rescue him.

In any event, it appears certain that efforts will be made to cement that Democratic-Progressive New Deal coalition in Wisconsin this year, and thus it will be pertinent to inquire into the probability of such a development.

YES AND NO

Presumably there will be little difficulty among the older Democratic New Dealers in Wisconsin, such men as Broughton and Hughes, who cling to the control of the party machinery, although by ever diminishing margins. Those men have frequently said that they will support LaFollette, and the close relations of the LaFollette and New Deal political headquarters in such recent incidents as the distribution of census jobs reinforces the probability.

Yet there is a hitch, and one which gives the present hint of being easily ironed out. To succeed, the Coalition must prevent the emergence of any Democratic candidate for senator, for the Democratic votes are too scarce to waste this year.

Any independent Democratic candidacy for senator would draw off Democratic votes which will be sorely needed by LaFollette in his crucial contest with the Republicans, it has been pointed out.

So the question of the attitude of the second New Deal Democratic organization in Wisconsin, the Democratic Party Organization of Wisconsin, assumes a new importance.

CONDITION

Gustave Keller of Appleton, president of that group, many months ago, it will be recalled, publicly invited LaFollette to run for reelection as a Democrat, and pledged liberal Democratic support for him.

That offer stands today, but it will not be changed in any particular, say the Keller insurgents. They recognize that LaFollette's political creed is as nearly identical to the New Deal gospel as it is possible to get, they realize that Washington wants the Wisconsin Progressive re-elected, but they are adamant on the matter of a party label. If LaFollette insists on running as a Progressive, as he must if he has any faith in the future of the party which his family strove for four decades to build, the DPOW will put up its own senatorial candidate, even though it appears certain that a division of the New Deal vote will insure the election of a Republican.

Thus there is offered one of the knottiest political problems to be faced by the LaFollette politicians in many days.

It is evident that the Progressives will welcome with open arms a Coalition with the New Deal Democrats, today as in other elections.

But will the Democrats' aid be important enough to dictate the scuttling of the Progressive party, as LaFollette's desertion of its ticket must inevitably mean?

Senator LaFollette will decide that, and he will have to decide it soon.

Personal Health Talks

SATISFY HUNGER

The dinner menu in the basic or model health diet outlined in the two-bit booklet "The 7 Keys to Vite" provides approximately 1000 five cents and stamped envelope bearing your address. Dental colleagues who ask for it on their professional stationery will receive a complimentary copy, provided they enclose the stamped self-addressed envelope.

I read that you would rather take your chances on ordinary medical or surgical treatment for a bite by a mad dog than to receive Pasteur treatment. Is that correct? If so, why do you object to Pasteur treatment? (Mrs. G. G.)

Answer—I would not take Pasteur treatment in any circumstance, because I fear the consequences of injection of the virus more than I do the remote possibility of getting rabies. I do not believe rabies occurs in man.

Iodine Ration

Am I too late to get a copy of your booklet "Reserve Power" which you said tells how to build and maintain "Vite"? Can one purchase iodine? Your Iodine Ration, which is not marked "poison?" (M. B.)

Ans. — For copy of booklet send stamped envelope bearing your address, mention "Reserve Power." The law requires a poison label on tincture of iodine.

Saltwater

Is saltwater mureous to the body? How much should one take? Is potassium nitrate the correct name for saltwater? (S. G.)

Answer — Potassium nitrate is saltwater. It is commonly used in the brine for preserving (canning) meat. It is harmless. I know of no reason why one should take it.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest will be answered by mail. The basic or model health diet as outlined in the "7 Keys" may be fairly called "corrective protective diet" because it contains liberal amounts of the vitamins and minerals which are lacking in the ordinary diet, and are essential for preventing and curing various deficiency diseases. For the same reason and because those who adopt it as a model for their everyday diet generally experience improvement in functional efficiency, it is also known as a rejuvenation diet, meaning simply to restore to a more youthful condition.

The model diet breakfast gives you 500 calories, every one of them accompanied by a band of variegated vitamins. Better let some one hold your loose change before you sit down to breakfast, for you'll probably jump up and turn cartwheels right afterward!

Cal. Min. Vitamins
1 pt. glass of orange juice 100 rich A-B-C
Two eggs 166 rich A-B-D-E
Fresh fruit 80 rich B-C
Glass of milk 160 rich A-B-D-E
Minerals in these items include calcium, phosphorus, sulphur, iron, potassium, sodium, iodine, magnesium, copper, etc. The vitamin B is the entire natural B complex.

Today and Tomorrow

BY WALTER LIPPMAN

The American Panacea

It used to be said of American legislators that when something went wrong, they immediately passed a new law forbidding the evil to exist. The question of enforcement did not trouble them. To this era belong the Sherman act which prohibits monopolies, the Eighteenth Amendment which prohibited the liquor traffic, the Keating act which prohibits war, and the neutrality acts which prohibit the United States from becoming involved in war. But in recent years we have adopted a new panacea. Having learned that the evils which afflict mankind cannot be cured by passing laws, our political leaders have passed on to the notion that most evils can be cured by appropriating money. They have had a lot of practice in appropriating money, and many of them have as much faith today in an appropriation bill as the solution of a problem as they had formerly in a prohibitory law.

In the current debate between the isolationists and the non-isolationists both sides are now assuming that whatever the dangers which confront the nation, whatever it is necessary and wise to do, the answer will be found in making more money available. The current isolationist position is that we can make ourselves secure by appropriating money for the Navy. The current non-isolationist position is that in addition to appropriating money for the Navy, we probably ought to amend the law in order to enable the Allies to borrow money. Both assume that if only enough money is made available, we shall be secure. They differ only in this: that the isolationists wish to make the money available to the United States Navy alone, whereas the others wish also to make money available to the Allies.

Capacity to Produce Quickly Is Necessary

We are, I am afraid, not looking at the true facts in the face, and so we are deceiving ourselves. The facts are these: neither the United States government nor the Allies lack money; what is lacking in the United States, dangerously lacking, is not "purchasing power" but the capacity to produce quickly and in sufficient quantity warships, airplanes, guns and other weapons of war. Our politicians are too busy with greater things to explain this to the people. So they are letting the people have the impression that in order to obtain armaments, all that any one has to have is money; you order them if you can pay for them, and pretty soon you take delivery, and that is that.

But it is not. Congress can talk as much as it pleases about a "two-ocean navy" and it can pass appropriations bills for X number of battleships. The two-ocean navy est; they are playing politics when the world is on fire. Yet the truth is plain and simple and urgent and beyond controversy. For it makes no difference in this most fundamental matter whether one is an isolationist or not; the fundamental things which most urgently need to be done are the same whatever the policy which the country adopts about helping or not helping the Allies.

If the isolationists have their way, and if the Allies should happen to lose, we shall be isolated in a very dangerous and exceedingly envious and unfriendly world. The isolationists realize this dimly, because they argue that the United States must be ready to defend itself with a great Navy. All the more reason why they ought to be the first to insist that American industry be expanded, organized, trained and disciplined to produce the means to protect our vital interests. For if by a policy of isolation we find ourselves isolated in a totalitarian world, we shall need far greater naval and military forces than we are able now to create.

If the non-isolationists should turn out to be right in thinking that the war in northern Europe may develop into a world war once the Allies seem to be losing, they must not imagine that they can avert this universal catastrophe by telling the Allies they may borrow money on gilt-edge securities through J. P. Morgan and Co. That is wishful thinking. If the Allies are being knocked out, and the war becomes world-wide with Italy, Japan and Russia joining in for the kill, the Allies will not have any credit left; if we made them a present of all the gold in Kentucky, that gold could not be turned into warships and airplanes and guns fast enough to save them from destruction, or ourselves from the consequences of living alone, and isolated, in a world where there is total anarchy with at least four great militarist powers on the make. Gold is useful if you have time to invest it, and make it produce weapons. But if you do not have time because you have neglected to prepare your industry for a critical emergency, the gold is of no account.

Solution Is Within Industrial System

So whether we think we can achieve security by armed isolation or that we must also do what we can to insure the Allies against defeat, the place where we have to act, the place where we shall win or lose our own national security, is not on the battlefields of Europe or in the islands of the Pacific, nor even, as we rather grandly like to say, "in this hemisphere." The place is within the United States and inside the American industrial system. If we allow it to remain at its present low level of productivity, then it does not much matter whether we call ourselves isolationists or not, the result will be much the same.

Teachers Pleased With Results of Ballot on Tenure

Opponents of Law Out-number Supporters by About 30,000

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—The narrow margin of victory of the teacher tenure law opponents in the recent advisory popular referendum on the subject was "very gratifying" to members of the teaching profession in Wisconsin, according to O. H. Plenzke, secretary of the Wisconsin Education association.

Plenzke has been one of the leading advocates of the statute giving security of employment to public school teachers, and the association was responsible for the passage of the law in the 1937 legislature, and has been its principal apologist since.

He predicted that opponents of tenure will hesitate in the 1941 legislative session to interpret the popular vote as a mandate for repeal, since supporters were outnumbered by the voters who opposed it by only about 30,000.

He observed that after a preliminary examination of the district vote on tenure, he and other teachers' spokesmen were surprised to find that in some rural sections it won majority support, despite the

State Reunion of Rainbow Veterans Scheduled July 28

The annual state reunion of members of the Rainbow division will be held July 28 at High Cliff park, it was decided at a meeting of the Appleton sub-chapter Monday night at the armory. Walter Bogan, reunion chairman, reported on arrangements and a tentative list of committees for the event. The subfact that the movement for repeal in the last legislature came principally from rural counties.

Here is the vote for and against repeal of the law in the northeastern Wisconsin counties, as officially tabulated by the Rev. George Brown, election supervisor in the secretary of state's department:

Bidding May Be Tip-Off For Double

BY ELY CULBERTSON

When an inexperienced player watches an expert game he is likely to be horrified and flabbergasted by turns, sometimes at the bids, more often at the plays, and perhaps most frequently at the penalty doubles. He has been taught, very likely, that in the absence of a bid from partner, a defender must be able virtually to count the setting tricks before he doubles for penalties. He finds it difficult to understand how an expert often will double with no apparent assurance of defeating the contract. Consider today's hand:

West dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♥ 8 6
♦ J 9 8 4 3
♣ A K 8 2

WEST
♠ A J 10 5
♦ A K 6 5 2
♣ A 10 5 3

EAST

♣ J 7 6

SOUTH
♠ Q 9 6 3
♥ K J 10 8 2
♦ 7
♣ Q 8 4

The bidding:
West North East South
1 diamond Pass 1 heart Pass
1 spade Pass 2 spades Pass
3 spades Pass 4 spades Pass
Pass Double Pass Pass

At a cursory glance North could be fairly certain of only two tricks against the four spade contract, namely, the ace and king of clubs. The timid or inexperienced player would shudder at the very thought of doubling. He would feel that his diamonds were worthless against a spade declaration. He would expect declarer either to ruff away losing diamonds in the dummy or to discard them on East's advertised heart suit.

An expert in the North position would fear neither of these contingencies. The bidding would clearly tell him that East's heart suit was none too solid, since East had failed to rebid the suit and had given only a gingerly spade raise, from one to two. West, on the other hand, had clearly disclosed that he was not extremely strong in trumps by approaching a game in spades rather than jumping to it after East's raise. On top of everything else, North could be virtually sure that his partner had four trumps and was extremely short in diamonds as, of course, dummy would be also. But North could tell that South probably would be able to overruff the diamonds that declarer inevitably would find he had to ruff in the dummy.

It might be imagined that South had a better double of four spades than did North, but such was not the case. While it is true he had hearts covered, he could not tell about the diamond situation, which could or could not be a splendid auxiliary suit for the declarer, depending on declarer's and dummy's holdings. For all South could tell, dummy might have three diamonds to something like the Q-J, and a singleton club; in that case, South's spades would be picked up and the diamond suit merrily run off.

North opened the club king and, when his partner played low (South looked far ahead and wanted to retain clubs as cards of exit), North shifted to his top heart. Dummy's ace won, and declarer attempted to cash the ace and king of diamonds, discarding a club from dummy on the second. But South ruffed and returned the queen and another club. Dummy ruffed, and now all that declarer could do was to make as many trump tricks as possible. By taking dummy's king of spades separately on a diamond ruff, declarer managed to hold his loss to 500 points.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

In spring, especially, you want your hair to look its loveliest. Everything is fresh, and green, and sparkling; the air is vitalizing and new hope springs into your heart. You give your home, or desk, or office a spring cleaning and wish ardently you could shake out of your old self into a new and glowing individual!

It isn't a bad idea at all to give yourself a spring renovating. Wake up your lazy skin pores and indolent circulation by exercising more. Get plenty of rest at the proper hours and see that your menus include nice fresh fruits and vegetables in quantity. It might take you two or three weeks before you get to feeling top but your reward will be a new radiance to your skin and hair and eyes, and heaps more energy.

You cannot expect your hair to be lovely and manageable unless your health is up to par, for your hair reflects any abnormal condition of your body. If you lack sufficient energy to carry you through the day your hair will look lifeless and no amount of care will make it as lovely as it could be. Get your system functioning normally and your hair will take nourishment it needs.

Condition Your Hair
It is very foolish to rush for a spring permanent until your hair is in a healthy condition. Better to brush it well, give it hot oil treatments, fortnightly shampoos and sun dyes.

Never comb or brush your hair while it is wet. Most beauty parlors operators do it, I know, but it is to save time. Far better!

Man Needn't Spend Great Deal of Money in Courtship

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—Isn't it a heck of a note nowadays that a young man has to spend a thousand dollars in order to win a wife? A young fellow of the middle class like myself must, in order to get a wife who amounts to anything, spend from $500 to $700 on a car and the remainder of the thousand dollars on gas and oil, clothes and show tickets. Furthermore, he must court her for a couple of years and that is more expensive. I have known some very fine girls, but I have never married because I have never been able to afford a car. A man can win a $50 wife with a $50 car. Now what I am driving at is that I wish I could marry some one of the fine girls that I know without spending my last cent in courting her. It will be so much more sensible to use the greater part of my savings to set up housekeeping and trust to luck in the future for luxuries. Don't you think so? JOHN.

Answer:

I certainly do. But aren't you putting the price of courtship a little high? I don't believe that the average girl requires to be wooed with archery, nor does she rise to go to the altar unless she is conveyed there in an automobile. Of course, there are plenty of girls who are gold-diggers and they hold up every man they meet for all that they can get out of him, but not all girls are Miss Gimme.

There are loads of girls who like a man for himself alone and who are perfectly willing to ride on street cars and buses and walk to the neighborhood movies, and who consider a hot dog and a soft drink a swell evening's entertainment if it is spent with a congenial and companionable chap.

These girls work themselves. They know how hard dollars come and they have mercy on a boy's pocketbook. They are not selfish and heartless enough to want him to spend money on them that will put him in debt or send him to the cheap lunch counter for a week.

Girls are not always to blame for the high prices of courtship. Nearly always it is the boy's own fault when he spends more money on a girl than he can afford. He wants to dazzle her with the idea that he is a big shot. He thinks he gains prestige with her by throwing his money about, by taking her to swanky night clubs and making her expensive presents. And when he buys an automobile on time it isn't to please her, it is because he wants it himself. Men always blame women for their extravagances. It is one of the oldest alibis in the world.

I quite agree with you that $1,000 too much money for a poor boy to spend on courting a girl. She isn't worth it, because if she had any sense and any prudence and really intended to marry the lad she would want him to save it to go housekeeping on, instead of wasting it on entertainments and payments on a car.

Avoid Marriage to a Jealous Woman
Dear Miss Dix—I am engaged to be married to a girl who is very fine in every way but one, and that is that she doesn't like my family, without any reason at all, for they have tried to be very nice and cordial to her. She won't come to our house for a friendly visit, and if she has to be in their company she sits up as mum as a clam; refuses even to speak to them.

Lately we were at a dance and when my family came in, she left. This hurt my feelings and I reproached her with it. She just says that she can't help the way she feels, and that if I insist upon her associating with them she will give me up because she hates them so much. Shall I marry this girl in spite of her dislike for my family, hoping that in time she will get over her feeling about them? I love her and my people. What shall I do? I am PUZZLED.

Answer:

Your fiancée's attitude toward your family is inspired by nothing but jealousy, and that is about the worst fault and the hardest one to live with that a wife can have. Just now she turns all of her venom on your father and mother, sisters and brothers because they are the ones nearest to you. But as soon as you circumstances are modest but they could manage a reception if we had a place to give it.

As I have already written, there is a prejudice—and yet occasionally there are mitigating circumstances which counteract this rule; circumstances which may perhaps be yours. For example, if your family and yours have long been friends and if his sister in particular is one of your best friends, this would make all the difference since no one could possibly believe that you were trying to make a display—or in fact, think anything but the truth.

I do think, however, that the wedding should be in church, to which your parents of course send the invitations—with reception cards enclosed, also in their names—at the address of your future sister-in-law. This wording means that your parents are contributing all service and supplies for the reception and have merely borrowed the house.

If your own family and your fiancée's family have not always been friends, it would be best, I think, to wait at the back of the church and receive the good wishes of every one, and then let your sister-in-law give a "welcome home" reception for you when you return from your wedding trip.

"Boy Friend" and "Steady Company"
Dear Mrs. Post: Is it true that "boy friend" and "steady company" have been accepted as present day terms for yesterday's beau and admirer?

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

It is for you let it dry thoroughly first, then brush out the tangles and finally comb it with a wide, deep toothed comb.

For Scalp Conditions
If you have a scalp condition—dandruff, dryness or excess oil—you most likely will benefit by using a corrective tonic each day or three times a week. It is well to select such a tonic carefully and then to follow the directions on it. If your scalp requires pretty consistent care for several weeks, and if you can afford it, put your head in the hands of a reliable salon which specializes in corrective treatments. They'll bring out the hidden beauty you thought you had lost forever, and get your hair ready for the loveliest permanent of your career!

After a prolonged illness or shock you must have patience until your body makes a normal adjustment. During that time care for your scalp religiously by gently massaging, brushing your hair not too briskly, and by using a lubricating pomade or a mild tonic.

Remember that the sun, in correct quantities, and air are good for your hair. When you sun your hair, keep parting it every few minutes so all the scalp will get the sun's rays and no part of it will become too bleached. A half hour's sunning is sufficient. If you bathe longer tie up your head in a scarf.

My leaflet "Treatment for the Oily Scalp" is available upon request if you write for it care of this paper and enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope to cover postage cost.

Girls are not always to blame for the high prices of courtship. Nearly always it is the boy's own fault when he spends more money on a girl than he can afford. He wants to dazzle her with the idea that he is a big shot. He thinks he gains prestige with her by throwing his money about, by taking her to swanky night clubs and making her expensive presents. And when he buys an automobile on time it isn't to please her, it is because he wants it himself. Men always blame women for their extravagances. It is one of the oldest alibis in the world.

I quite agree with you that $1,000 too much money for a poor boy to spend on courting a girl. She isn't worth it, because if she had any sense and any prudence and really intended to marry the lad she would want him to save it to go housekeeping on, instead of wasting it on entertainments and payments on a car.

Avoid Marriage to a Jealous Woman
Dear Miss Dix—I am engaged to be married to a girl who is very fine in every way but one, and that is that she doesn't like my family, without any reason at all, for they have tried to be very nice and cordial to her. She won't come to our house for a friendly visit, and if she has to be in their company she sits up as mum as a clam; refuses even to speak to them.

Lately we were at a dance and when my family came in, she left. This hurt my feelings and I reproached her with it. She just says that she can't help the way she feels, and that if I insist upon her associating with them she will give me up because she hates them so much. Shall I marry this girl in spite of her dislike for my family, hoping that in time she will get over her feeling about them? I love her and my people. What shall I do? I am PUZZLED.

Answer:

Your fiancée's attitude toward your family is inspired by nothing but jealousy, and that is about the worst fault and the hardest one to live with that a wife can have. Just now she turns all of her venom on your father and mother, sisters and brothers because they are the ones nearest to you. But as soon as you circumstances are modest but they could manage a reception if we had a place to give it.

As I have already written, there is a prejudice—and yet occasionally there are mitigating circumstances which counteract this rule; circumstances which may perhaps be yours. For example, if your family and yours have long been friends and if his sister in particular is one of your best friends, this would make all the difference since no one could possibly believe that you were trying to make a display—or in fact, think anything but the truth.

I do think, however, that the wedding should be in church, to which your parents of course send the invitations—with reception cards enclosed, also in their names—at the address of your future sister-in-law. This wording means that your parents are contributing all service and supplies for the reception and have merely borrowed the house.

If your own family and your fiancée's family have not always been friends, it would be best, I think, to wait at the back of the church and receive the good wishes of every one, and then let your sister-in-law give a "welcome home" reception for you when you return from your wedding trip.

There is more to making a home than meets the eye. The cooperation of every member of the family is necessary. One laggard, one slacker, and the whole place is upset, the atmosphere strained, the machinery stalled. Children are the worst offenders, of course, because they do not understand how important their part in the scheme is. They have to be housebroken.

I have never met the child who did not throw his night clothes on the floor, leave the bathroom in a mess and go serenely on his way. Boy or girl, it is the same until somebody takes the strong stand that forces personal responsibility for neatness.

Even after considerable training and seeming success in these particulars, the children fall back into untidiness and carelessness if not held to the standard. That means that somebody has to take an hour or more to pick up after them. An hour out of a working day in the household is a great deal of time, and very expensive in terms of nerves and harmony of spirit.

What can one do with a teen age son or daughter who heedlessly goes to school leaving this scene of disorder behind him? "I have talked myself hoarse. I have told them how much it would spare me and Norah if they did this one little thing to help. It is useless. I pick up night clothes, bath towels, robes, stockings, slippers, yesterday's clothes, endless picking up the very next day. I give up."

Don't give up. The next time the children leave a mess behind them let it stand. When they come home inform them that their rooms because they did not leave them ready. They will go now, put them in order and sweep and dust them. There will be howls of dismay but stick to it. A few experiences like that, that experiences that inconvenience them will sharpen their idea of cooperation considerably.

It is no kindness to bring up a couple of children who have no regard for the service home offers them. They are going to have a home by and by and its smooth running is bound to be a matter of grave concern for them. It isn't right to let them go into that experience without preparation. The time to teach them is when they are teachable, especially those of teen age.

Don't skip the boys and put it all on the girls. Boys need to know all there is to know about a house and a home. Don't pick up after one. Hold him strictly to the standard of neatness you have set for the family. A boy can cook and clean and use a vacuum cleaner, serve a meal, decorate a room, paint a chair, as well as any girl and he should be taught his responsibility through experience.

"I could do it three times while I get them to do it once." Of course. But you don't need the training and they do. You need relief from housework and they need the generous education a course in it offers. A generation of thoroughly housebroken boys and girls would go a long way toward reducing our divorce rate.

GROOM'S FAMILY

The rule has always been strict against permitting the family of the bridegroom to give any part of the wedding. This is considered the obligation of the family of the bride, and yet there are times when this tabu against giving the reception in the house of the groom's family is unreasonable—especially since it is quite proper that a mere friend of the bride or her own family offer her house. This long established prejudice nevertheless, explains the "curious feeling" of her mother described by the bride-to-be in this letter:

"We live in a very small apartment. It is certainly not possible to have a wedding in it, or even to have a reception big enough to include both our families. My fiancée's sister has offered her beautiful big house for both the wedding and reception. My parents are hesitating to accept because my mother has a curious feeling that this would be putting my family in the wrong. She thinks I should be married in church and that we should dispense with the reception. Naturally, if it were possible, I would so much rather have a reception. My family

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—Isn't it a heck of a note nowadays that a young man has to spend a thousand dollars in order to win a wife? A young fellow of the middle class like myself must, in order to get a wife who amounts to anything, spend from $500 to $700 on a car and the remainder of the thousand dollars on gas and oil, clothes and show tickets. Furthermore, he must court her for a couple of years and that is more expensive. I have known some very fine girls, but I have never married because I have never been able to afford a car. A man can win a $50 wife with a $50 car. Now what I am driving at is that I wish I could marry some one of the fine girls that I know without spending my last cent in courting her. It will be so much more sensible to use the greater part of my savings to set up housekeeping and trust to luck in the future for luxuries. Don't you think so? JOHN.

Answer:

I certainly do. But aren't you putting the price of courtship a little high? I don't believe that the average girl requires to be wooed with archery, nor does she rise to go to the altar unless she is conveyed there in an automobile. Of course, there are plenty of girls who are gold-diggers and they hold up every man they meet for all that they can get out of him, but not all girls are Miss Gimme.

There are loads of girls who like a man for himself alone and who are perfectly willing to ride on street cars and buses and walk to the neighborhood movies, and who consider a hot dog and a soft drink a swell evening's entertainment if it is spent with a congenial and companionable chap.

These girls work themselves. They know how hard dollars come and they have mercy on a boy's pocketbook. They are not selfish and heartless enough to want him to spend money on them that will put him in debt or send him to the cheap lunch counter for a week.

Girls are not always to blame for the high prices of courtship. Nearly always it is the boy's own fault when he spends more money on a girl than he can afford. He wants to dazzle her with the idea that he is a big shot. He thinks he gains prestige with her by throwing his money about, by taking her to swanky night clubs and making her expensive presents. And when he buys an automobile on time it isn't to please her, it is because he wants it himself. Men always blame women for their extravagances. It is one of the oldest alibis in the world.

Appleton Brides-to-be Show
Conservative Tastes in Choice
Of Invitations to Weddings

BY NELL CHABERLAIN
APPLETON brides-to-be are rather conservative in their tastes as far as wedding invitations go, for they are rather slow to accept the new ivory paper which some brides in larger cities are favoring. While one local business states that the orders are about equally divided between the pure white and the ivory paper, another says that the demand for ivory paper for wedding invitations is almost negligible.

The pinkish-white stationery which is mentioned as being used to some extent by brides in the cities is not even being shown in Appleton.

The slightly smaller size of invitations which was noticed last year continues to be shown this season, the most popular being about 4 1/2 by 5 1/2 inches. An innovation this year, however, is the deckled edge which gives the invitation a slightly less formal air than the straight edge. More unpaneled invitations are being shown than paneled.

Whatever type of invitation the bride-to-be chooses to send, she should consider well this particular phase of the wedding preparations. In order not to forget anyone, a good suggestion is to draw up a preliminary list of everyone she can think of, then hob-nob with the family at several short sessions to read aloud the list and add others that may be recalled. Finally, with names close at hand, add the names of his family, relatives and friends, and as the last resort consult his parents for final checking.

Invitations are limited, relatives should be invited first, then friends and last, business associates. Long before the 2-weeks-ahead-of-the-ceremony deadline for mailing, the bride should address outside envelopes completely and write the full name on the inner envelope. And it's a good idea to have a few more invitations on hand than one thinks will be needed.

Indiana Slaying Case Arguments Brought to Close

Jury to Start Deliberating This Afternoon in Boy's Trial

Crawfordsville, Ind.—(P)—Lawyers finished final arguments today in the sex slaying trial of Thomas Allen Boys, 28, Attica golf course greenskeeper, and Circuit Judge Edgar A. Rice began instructing jurors.

The jury was scheduled to begin deliberating this afternoon. Boys is charged with first-degree murder in a rape killing last July 21.

Any one of seven verdicts is possible: First-degree murder with the death penalty, first-degree murder with life imprisonment, second-degree murder, voluntary manslaughter, involuntary manslaughter, acquittal and acquittal by reason of insanity.

Boys is accused of strangling Elizabeth DeBruicker, 11, Fountain County 4-H club member, and burying the body in a shallow grave.

Defense plea. In final arguments yesterday afternoon Forrest and James Wallace, father-and-son defense counsel, argued that Attica officers arrested "lunatic Tom" because they were "on the spot" and quoted Roy Fenters, one of the prosecutors, as saying he did not believe Boys was guilty after visiting him at the West Lafayette state police post.

The defense attorneys said the state's case was based on circumstantial evidence "except for the mouthings of a lunatic" and assailed prosecution contentions that Boys made an oral confession, saying he did so "to escape questioning."

Fenters, who preceded the Wallacees, summed up the state's evidence, discounted the insanity defense, and demanded conviction and death in the electric chair.

Special Prosecutor Nelson White of Covington was the only attorney who spoke today.

He said Boys' insanity plea did not amount to anything. He pointed out some twenty-five acquaintances and two physicians had testified Boys was of sound mind, while only five doctors had said he was insane.

Men who have known Boys all his life, said White, should know more about his mental condition than five doctors who have seen him only once.

Detroit Morning Newspaper Sold

Free Press Purchased by Publisher of Ohio, Florida Papers

Detroit —(P)—Sole of the Detroit Free Press to John S. Knight, publisher of the Akron, Ohio, Beacon Journal and the Miami, Fla., Herald, was announced in today's editions of the newspaper.

No mention of the sale price was made, but the announcement stated that the purchase carries with it all outstanding stock in the corporation.

The Free Press, a morning paper, is 109 years old, the oldest daily in Michigan. News of its sale was made public by E. D. Stair, publisher and owners of the controlling interest since 1906.

Stair, who is 81 years old, said that because of his age he wished to be relieved of the responsibility entailed in the publication of a metropolitan newspaper. He will remain, however, as chairman of the board of the Detroit Free Press, Inc., while Knight assumes the presidency.

Knight said in a statement that the Free Press would be politically independent in its editorial policy.

U. S. Cold to Requests for Changing Name to North Pole

BY EDDY GILMORE

Washington —(P)—The postoffice department repeatedly is turning a cold shoulder to the desire of American cities to rename themselves North Pole.

The second request within six months for such a change has just been denied. The last two, incidentally, came from Wisconsin.

Marshville in Dodge county, some time ago asked the postoffice department for permission to change its name to North Pole. Permission was granted temporarily and then withdrawn. Recently Cornucopia, in Bayfield county, in the extreme north corner of the state, petitioned to have its name changed to North Pole. This request also was turned down.

Officials say that if they ever established a North Pole in the United States they probably would have to recognize 47 more before the end of the year.

This is not the only reason for their icy position, however. Generally, they believe, there isn't much reason other than commercial for the desire to name a town North Pole.

"I'm afraid," said an official who passes on the requests, "that most of them are inspired by Santa Claus, Ind."

"Anyhow, we already have a Glacier, Wash. Santa Claus, Ind., does a tremendous Christmas mailing business largely because of its name. In recent years the department has received many quant requests for changing names of post offices. Unless there is a reason—such as two cities in the same state having nearly similar names—they are turned down."

Other communities have begged to be known as: Santa Clausland, Saint Nick, Santaville, or Santyville.

During the depression—and this had nothing to do with Christmas—

May Takes Place On Calendar Amid Flurries of Snow

Appleton Sees Flakes Today: Colder Tonight, Milder Thursday

Galoshes were in vogue for May pole dancers in several midwestern states today as April's farewell showers turned to wet, swirling snow. Flakes began to drift down on Appleton from an overcast sky early this afternoon.

The Associated Press reported that today's snowstorm centered over extreme northern Illinois, extreme eastern Wisconsin, and western Upper Michigan. Flurries were general over Minnesota, Iowa, and extreme northern Wisconsin, and were expected to move into northern and western lower Michigan later today.

Cloudy and cold tonight, fair with rising temperatures tomorrow is the forecast for Appleton and vicinity issued today by the Milwaukee bureau.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon, the thermometer atop the Post-Crescent stood at 40 degrees. A reading of 34 at 6 o'clock this morning was the minimum for the 24-hour period ended at 9 o'clock today. Yesterday's high was 52, according to the Wisconsin Michigan Power company plant, Duluth, Minn., reported a low of 24 degrees yesterday, coldest in the nation.

Snow in Milwaukee

Swirling snow and 34-degree temperatures greeted Milwaukee people this morning, after four days of balmy weather. A light rain which started early this morning in that city turned to snow, which, blown by a strong wind, melted as it hit the ground. As snow slanted against Milwaukee office buildings, 150 window washers went on strike.

The government weather bureau at Chicago reported this was the fourth time in 63 years that a measurable amount of snow had fallen in Chicago in May. Fair and rising temperatures were forecast for tomorrow in most of the middle west, the showers moving eastward.

The snow, which followed a rain of .98 inch in Chicago, forced postponement of the National league baseball game between Boston and Chicago.

In east warm weather continued for the fourth day. The temperature was expected to reach 70 again today in Newark, N. J.

THE WEATHER

Forecast for Wisconsin:

Mostly cloudy and continued cold with temperatures below freezing north and west portions tonight; Thursday fair with slowly rising temperature west and central portions; considerable cloudiness extreme east portion.

General Weather Conditions:

A disturbance which was central over Wisconsin yesterday morning has moved slowly eastward and now overlies Lower Michigan. Precipitation has been general during the last 24 hours over the Lake region, Mississippi valley, the southern states and the northern Pacific coast. However, generally fair weather prevailed this morning over all sections west of the Mississippi river and along the Atlantic coast.

It was unseasonably cool this morning over the central and plains states, with freezing temperatures reported from the Lake region and the northern plains states.

Mostly cloudy weather is expected in this section during the next 24 hours, with freezing temperature tonight.

98 Pupils Winners in Milk Drinking Contest

Wisconsin Rapids.—(P)—Ninety-eight grade school pupils have been chosen winners in a milk drinking contest conducted among Wood county's 2,894 rural school pupils by county agent H. R. Lathrop.

Each of the 98 will receive a free one-day trip to Madison next Saturday.

The winners, each representing a different graded school, were chosen on the basis of an essay on "Why I Like to Drink Milk," and fulfillment of a requirement that they drink one large glass of milk daily from March 26 to April 16.

Of the 2,894 pupils eligible, 60 percent or 1,728 drank the specified amount of milk.

of coffee for each cup, and for the old-fashioned coffee pot method she told the women to use an egg or part of an egg to clarify it and collect the grounds. Two or three tablespoons of cold water allowed to trickle down the spout after the coffee is done will settle the grounds, she added.

Something new to most of the women at today's session was the use of fruit juice instead of water in making crust for a fruit pie. Miss Ferguson told of using the orange drink which she was demonstrating as a pudding by thickening it, and later said that the same could be done with chocolate milk.

"Good flour has a lightness which causes a sort of mist to rise from it when it is sifted," the demonstrator explained, adding that poor flour falls heavily into the dish.

All these things were sidelights, of course, the main lesson being on crisp cross pie, New England doughnuts, stuffed cabbage, pound cake, tipsy-topsy pudding and bacon and cheese toast. Great interest was shown in the stuffed cabbage and the manner in which Miss Ferguson peeled back the parboiled leaves, cut a section out of the middle and stuffed the cavity with ground meat, cooked rice and shredded cabbage, then replaced the leaves over the opening, wrapped the whole head in cheese cloth and set it in water to cook.

The peach pie with its lattice top was delectable looking even before it went into the oven, but when it was removed and shown to the audience there were exclamations of pleasure and surprise and a few shy lip-bickers.

Music in Recess

Recess is always a popular part of any school, no matter how interesting the lessons, and today's "recess" again featured Tom Temple's music. The audience especially enjoyed Bob Lee's vocals on "You'd Be Surprised" and "Everybody Loves My Baby" and the novelty, "Doodle de Doo," with Ray Weckwerth's accordion solo and vocal chorus by a trio. The "Skate's Waltz" set to swing was "Skate's" and "Bolero" in special arrangement featuring the string section was well received. Other numbers were "Isle of May," a Viennese waltz medley, and "Little Girl."

Mrs. Harold Ferron again played a half hour program of organ melodies preceding the opening curtain. Since today's cooking school was completely sold out, H. L. Davis, Jr., master of ceremonies, announced this morning that all children at the Thursday and Friday sessions must have tickets. Some tickets are still available for the last two sessions at cooperating stores.

The happiest woman at the cooking school today was Mrs. Henry Meltz, 1611 N. Morrison street, who was presented with the Speed Queen washer from Wichmann Furniture company. Mrs. Louis Chizek, Kaukauna, received a ton of Cleveland Cliffs Coal Box, and for storages at Krick's and Grist's were given to Mrs. Ernest Janz, 123 S. Douglas street, and Mrs. V. R. Burgess, 612 N. DuRue street. Mrs. Fern Setz, Black Creek, was awarded a sack of flour by the ABC Food market.

MOOSE MIST

Fairbanks, Alaska.—(P)—In freezing weather, moose sometimes look like a "cloud drifting along the ground," from an airplane.

The big animals are almost obscured by the pall of mist which envelops them, Flier Frank Pollock reported. It's their breath and heat from their bodies condensing.

The huge beasts leave the higher regions, which lack timber and are exposed to storms, for lower areas with trees shelters and calmer atmosphere.

Redding, Calif.—(P)—It took a full measure of piety for the Rev. Wallace Buckingham to remain calm and finish his prayer at the Baptist church. While he was leading devotions, a mouse ran up his trouser leg and remained there until the prayer was ended. Then it scampered away.

Mortgaged Wheat Is Claimed by U. S.

1939 Loan Program Ends; Defaulted Totals Are Not Available

BY FRANKLIN MULLIN

Chicago.—(P)—Although Uncle Sam claimed title today to an undetermined amount of mortgaged 1939 wheat, grain-belt farmers who repaid government loans have turned a profit on the transaction principally because of the war and a domestic crop scare.

The government's 1939 wheat-loan program, a phase of the ever-normal granary plan, has ended except for loans on about 21,000,000 bushels of grain stored on farms. These can be extended a year. Outstanding loans not eligible for extension will be called.

How much grain the government eventually will possess because of defaulted loans cannot be determined as yet.

Originally the Commodity Credit Corporation advanced more than $110,000,000 on 167,000,000 bushels but recently farmers have been repaying loans at the rate of about $7,000,000 weekly. Thus, the bulk of the grain has been redeemed by producers taking advantage of the 2 cents a bushel or more price rise above original loan rates.

Terminal markets have been flooded with receipts of wheat would have been marketed last summer and fall had it not been for the loan program. However, much repossessed wheat is believed to be held by producers who are speculating in the hope of a further price upturn. Much grain that was priced as low as 60 cents last summer at market and now is worth above $1 has been refinanced through banks and other lending institutions.

Laws Against Trade Barriers Recommended

Washington.—(P)—Enactment of legislation to assist states in reaching agreements or understanding for prevention or elimination of existing or threatened trade barriers between states, was recommended by a special congressional group studying the unemployment problem.

The subcommittee, headed by Representative Johns (R-Wis.) after studying the effect of trade barriers on the unemployment problem, filed a report which declared that many motor vehicle laws featured in the barriers to interstate trade.

Johns reported there was an "absolute necessity that something be done about these barriers if the states are going to live in peace and harmony with each other."

The trade barrier subcommittee also recommended that congress enact legislation to provide that no state which gets federal highway aid, after the next meeting of its legislature, may participate in the funds unless it adopts uniform weights, measurements and specifications for all motor vehicles traveling federal-aid highways.

OPENING AT APPLETON SATURDAY

Usually when a character in a motion picture is killed he is immediately out of the picture, and off the screen. But the opposite is true in the cast of the picture coming to the Appleton Theater Saturday, "Beyond Tomorrow," featuring Charles Winninger, Richard Carlson, Maria Ouspenskaya, Jean Parker, Helen Vinson, C. Aubrey Smith and Harry Carey. In this film is pictured the unbelievable spectacle of three of the players appearing in "spirit" form and in the most dramatic moments of the story although they have been killed in an airplane accident.

Heading this picture is the daring screen version of the sensational Broadway play, "Primrose Path," starring Ginger Rogers and Joel McCrea with Marjorie Rambeau, Henry Travers, Miles Mander and Queenie Vassar.

The Little Theater group recently elected officers Robert Hella had resigned as president and Ronald Snelling was elected to succeed him. Mrs. Dan Williams was secretary and treasurer for the second year. The next meeting of the Little Theater group will be held Monday evening May 12.

The Combined Locks P. T. A. will hold its last regular meeting on Monday evening.

Thursday being a holy day, masses at St. Paul's church will be at 6 and 8 o'clock. There will be no classes at the state graded school on that day.

ed to be alone. "Will the garden be alone enough?" she asked. Pierre led her out to a seat that Old Abe had built near the garden pool. A weeping willow threw lacy curtains on three sides, the fourth gave view to the house and the drive and paths.

But having led her to seclusion, Pierre said nothing. He resumed his pacing until the fish, who had come up to nibble at the rice flour balls Tomi tossed in, retreated to the shelter of lily pads.

"Pierre," she said at length, "what is the matter?"

He paused before her, blue eyes dark with worry. "I don't know how to tell you," he began. "It's about Bartell, what he did yesterday, his motive in kidnapping you."

"Kidnapping?" scoffed Tomi. "That's ridiculous. You heard the mechanic say the feed-line had become disconnected."

"You admit, don't you, that you didn't know he'd planned a . . . picnic?"

"Pierre, what right have you to question me?"

"I—that is, you are going to be my wife. I have a right to look after you."

Tomi was suddenly startled. Pierre had never mentioned marriage. She had taken his intentions for granted, just as he was assuming now that she had.

"Does it occur to you that you have said nothing to me about marriage?"

"Oh, Tomi." He was on his knees, his head in her lap. "I've been so completely upset, so worried. Four hours yesterday until Dotty broke down and told us you wouldn't be coming back until sunset. I nearly went wild. I pictured you drowned, or drifting out in the bay. How did I know but what Bartell would find some way to—"

"To what, Pierre?"

He stood up. "I don't know what I'm saying. I guess it's jealousy. But after Lily had talked to me I wanted to shoot that rat."

Tomi stiffened in alarm. "What did Lily say?"

B Kneeroom for rear-seat passengers in a Ford is considerably greater than that of any other car in its price class!

C With its compact V-type engine, the Ford is designed to carry rear-seat passengers farther ahead of the rear spring than any other car at this price—toward the center of the car where riding quality is best!

SURPRISING is the word for a 1940 Ford! Surprising because it gives so much you wouldn't expect at its low price. Surprising all-round performance, as proved when it won the big 3700-mile Argentine Grand Prize Road Race. Surprising gas economy, as proved when it gave most miles per gallon of all standard-equipped cars at its price in the Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run. Surprising in its big-car ride and room. Parent-Teacher Groups Will Sponsor 'Bumble Bee Prince'

Neenah — The hundreds of school children in Neenah and Menasha have been hearing the story of "The Bumble Bee Prince" and listening to records of Rimsky-Korsakov's music this week in preparation for the third and final Junior Programs, Inc. production, the opera, "The Bumble Bee Prince," which will be presented at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon in Menasha High school auditorium under the auspices of the Twin City Parent Teacher associations.

Alexander Pushkin's story of the young Tsarevitch Gudon and his mother shipwrecked on a barren island and Gudon's shooting of the hawk to release the magician's spell on the city and its people reads like a masculine Cinderella fairy tale. There is a bad sister, a wicked nurse, and a wonderful hen that lays golden eggs in the plot as well as the transformation of Gudon into a bumble bee so that he may visit his father, Rimsky-Korsakov's "Flight of the Bumble Bee" features one of the scenes.

Special adaptation of the opera for children has been accomplished with Gregory Ashman as musical director.

Transportation of the Neenah school children will be provided again in the same manner which was used during the other two productions sponsored by the PTAs. Mrs. Marvin Olsen is general chairman. Mrs. John Holman, Neenah, is general ticket chairman. Mrs. William Karrow, Menasha, general ticket chairman for Menasha, and Mrs. Henry Johnson, Neenah, is general treasurer. Each school in Neenah as well as Menasha have individual ticket chairmen.

The series of three cultural programs for children presented by Junior Programs, Inc. under the sponsorship of the Neenah and Menasha associations have been the ballet, "Pinnocchio," Sue Hastings' marionettes and the opera which will be given Thursday afternoon.

Bluejay Trackmen To Race Kaukauna In Third Contest

Comparative Times Indicate Close Meet Friday at Kaukauna

Menasha — The Menasha High school track team will travel to Kaukauna Friday for its third meet of the season. The Kaws are scheduled to open their season this afternoon at Neenah.

The Kaws held an inter-squad track meet and a comparison of the records with those made in the Neenah-Menasha meet Saturday indicates that the meet may be close. The Jays should score well in the running events except the hurdles but probably will fall behind in most of the field events.

O'Brien won the 100-yard dash at Neenah in 11.2 but Ralph Doering, Kaukauna, has done the distance in 11 seconds. O'Brien's time of 25.3 in the 220, his best distance, indicates a tight race for Junior Swelberg won the event at Kaukauna with 25.4 seconds.

Gene Grode won the half mile at Neenah in 2 minutes, 16.4 seconds just about four seconds better than the Kaukauna time. Holen ran second in a 458 mile at Neenah while the Kaukauna time was 5:9.4. The Kaws probably will gain first in the 440, the high hurdles, and the low hurdles.

Kaw Margin in Jumps The Kaws may score a slam in the broad jump unless Friedland hits his stride in that event. They also will be favored in the high jump in which Gene Grode is the best Menasha contender and in the pole vault in which James Wiegand has shown the best for the Jays.

Alger and O'Brien probably will have a duel in the shotput. Alger won the school meet with a heave of 40 feet, 11 inches and O'Brien pushed the shot 41 feet, 6 inches in taking first place in the triangular at New London. O'Brien consistently throws the shot over the 40 foot mark.

In the discus Alger probably won't be pressed as he has sailed the plate over 130 feet. Giordana and John Velte may give Kaukauna a sweep in that event although William Robinson may collect some points for the Jays.

The relay race may be one of the best events in the meet. The Jays ran the relay in 1:47 at Neenah Saturday while the Kaukauna school time was 1:42.6.

Florist Gives Demonstration Talk at Homemakers Meeting

Menasha — W. J. Bauernfiend, Menasha florist, presented a demonstration talk on floral arrangements to about 60 members of the Menasha Homemakers club at the School of Adult and Vocational Education Tuesday afternoon.

Bauernfiend was introduced by Mrs. S. E. Crockett, chairman of the program committee which includes Mrs. Ed Fox, Mrs. John Novakowski, Mrs. Robert Malinowski and Mrs. Donald Christensen.

Cold and warm colors, contrast and harmony, bouquets for centerpieces and for wall tables were discussed by Mr. Bauernfiend at the same time that he told the group "if you haven't time to make an arrangement, don't start. Flowers placed haphazardly in a vase might better have been left in the gardens. Don't try to be symmetrical in arrangements, it makes bouquets look too mechanical. Nature doesn't grow flowers that way."

Miss Amy Horn who is directing the Homemakers club, welcomed the women to the meeting Tuesday afternoon. Miss Horn talked on Homemakers' clubs during a broadcast over WBBY this afternoon as she outlined the program. Five groups of 20 members each will be organized with presidents and secretary-treasurers. Blaze in Menasha Business District Causes $6,000 Loss

Menasha—Fire believed to have been started by hot ashes taken from a stove and placed in cardboard containers resulted in approximately $6,000 damage to two stores in the Winz building, Main street this morning.

The fires started at the rear of the Oscar Dorn shoe shop 204 Main street and spread up the walls into the open attic, and along the ceiling to the front of the store. Smoke from the fire spread through the open attic into the Stimp and Hedberg drug store, 206 Main street, and caused smoke damage.

The fire alarm was turned in by Mrs. William Edwards when smoke from the downstairs reached the second floor of the building. The Edwards family live in the apartment above the two stores. Damage in the second floor was confined almost entirely to smoke.

The fire department was called at 6:10 but the flames already had a good start. The fire probably had been burning for several hours as Dorn told Fire Chief Paul Theimer that he had taken the ashes out of the stove at the rear of the store shortly before going home last night.

The loss is partly covered by insurance. Dorn's stock valued at $7,000 was about half covered by insurance. Stimp and Hedberg also carried insurance but no accurate estimate of their loss will be available until inventory has been taken. The rear of the building was damaged the most but insurance probably will cover the loss.

The Menasha High school a cappella choir will sing the numbers which will present at the music festival at Kaukauna May 11. Baseball Team to Get Real Sendoff

Committee Maps Plans For Opening Day Ceremonies

DATE IS MAY 9

Program Includes Civic Dinner, Parade, Pre-Game Fanfare

CLASS D baseball, which is baseball as baseball should be played, will get a real sendoff in Appleton. A group of men representing the local service clubs gathered at Conway hotel last night and mapped elaborate plans for a civic promotion of the Appleton Papermakers.

Tentative plans for the opening day ceremonies May 9 call for a community dinner at Conway hotel at noon, a parade headed by the Sons of the American Legion Bugle and Drum corps and plenty of color and fanfare at Spencer street field. Thousands are expected to see the game against Green Bay.

William Van Dyck was named chairman of the committee in charge and the ball will start rolling today with the sale of souvenir booster tickets. Regular admission to the opening game, and all others is 40 cents, but the sportsman's tickets will be sold at $1 a head. Stubs from the booster tickets will be drawn and the lucky numbers will bring prizes in the form of an autographed baseball and a season pass. Season passes, by the way, are $12.50 for non-stockholders, and slightly less for stockholders. The team plays 60 games at home making the average cost for the holder of a season pass about 21 cents a game.

Kids Get Break
A ticket sale will be conducted for school children. In line with the philosophy of C. O. Baetz, president of the Appleton Baseball club, to "make baseball available to everybody at a minimum cost," season tickets for pupils below the ninth grade are 25 cents. Separate game admissions are 10 cents. Season tickets for high school students are $1, or 15 cents per admission. Bleacher seats will be provided for the kids.

An effort will be made to dismiss Appleton public and parochial schools early next Thursday afternoon so the pupils may see the game, which is called for 3:15. All afternoon games during the season will be played at 3:15 and night games will get underway as soon as the weather warms up.

The program will go into high gear Saturday when merchants will play up baseball in their display windows. The exhibits will include pictures of Appleton baseball players and teams, old and new. The retail division of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce is giving full cooperation on that score. Merchants and manufacturers also will be asked to "shut up shop" early next Thursday afternoon so employees can get out to the game.

Brown Head to Speak
Advertising and publicity also will be used in promoting the opening. Merchants will include information about the game in their regular ads. A banner will be strung across College avenue.

The dinner Thursday noon, which will be in the form of a joint meeting for service clubs and to which the public is invited, will feature an official of the St. Louis Browns as the principal speaker. Other baseball officials and veteran fans will give short talks.

Following the dinner, a caravan of cars carrying the Appleton and Green Bay baseball players and hundreds of fans will be organized and they will honk their way out to the ball park.

All Appleton players will be introduced preceding the game and the mayors of Appleton and Green Bay will form the opening battery. Ceremonies will be broadcast by WHBY, which also will broadcast all home games of the Appleton Papermakers.

Many merchants will be putting up prizes for the Papermakers to be awarded for the first base hit, the first putout, the first home run, the first winning pitcher, etc.

The committee will iron out details of the plans at 7:30 Friday evening at Conway hotel.

It's a Fact-8 Other Horses Are Going to Post With Bimmie

BY SID FEDER
LOUISVILLE, Ky.—It's one of those daffy things without rhyme or reason, like the guy who took off his hat because his feet were hot, but all signs pointed today to the fact that eight other horses actually are going to the post with Bimmie in the Kentucky derby Saturday.

What they'll be in there pitching for no one among the thousands already in derby town for the big show seems to know. Of course, the $3,000 second money "ant hay," and in times like these you're not sneezing at $2,000 for third or even $1,000 for fourth. But there doesn't seem to be any chance for anything with four legs catching Bimmie once he throws 'er in high. The way he came home in 1:38 on

Horse	Owner	Prob. Jockey	App. Odds
Bimmie	Col. E. R. Bradley	Freddie Smith	2-5
Dit	Arnold Hanger	Buddy Haas	8-1
Miloland	Charles S. Howard	Leon Balaski	10-1
Pictor	William L. Brann	George Wolf	10-1
Gallahadion	Mrs. Ethel V. Mars	Carroll Rierman	15-1
Roman	Joseph F. Widener	Wayne Wright	15-1
Royal Man	Harold S. Clark	Johnny Gilbert	25-1
Sirocco	Charles T. Fisher	Anton Bodiou	30-1
Sky Dog	Harry M. Warner	Nick Wall	200-1

The only possible addition to this field, at this writing, seems to be if Herbert M. Wood decides to start. He's been debating the thing for days, because he'd like his colors represented.

CUBS OPTION CATCHER
Chicago—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs optioned catcher Clyde McCullough yesterday to the Buffalo club of the International league, reducing the roster to the mid-season limit of 25 players. McCullough came from the Kansas City team of the American association where he batted .277 a year ago.

Madison Blues are Beaten by Badgers

Howie Radder of Kaukauna Hits Homer to Side the Outcome

Madison—A home run by Howard Radder of Kaukauna in the first half of the ninth inning, with a mate on base, enabled the University of Wisconsin baseball team to hand the Madison Blues a 3 to 2 defeat here last night in football weather.

With Southpaw Bob Van Sickle going the full route for the Badgers and allowing 10 scattered hits, the Badgers hit three Blues' hurlers for eight blows but were behind until the ninth.

Schilling started the Wisconsin half of the ninth with a single and was sacrificed to second by Pinch Baker Van Sickle. Dismeier singled to center but a nice throw home by Mitchei caught Schilling at the plate for the second out. Radder, who had gone hitless in three previous times at bat, then waited for a good one and drove it over the centerfield wall scoring Dismeier.

Galento's Bout With Baer Set for July 2

New York—(AP)—At the request of Tony Galento, his 15-round fight with Max Baer at Jersey City's Roosevelt stadium yesterday was postponed to July 2 by Promoter Mike Jacobs. Originally, it was scheduled for May 28. Galento asked for the postponement because of the death last week of his manager, Joe Jacobs.

HURLERS HOLD KEY TO RED SOX HOPES

If these hurlers click the Boston Red Sox may beat out the Yankees this season. Joe Cronin's club can match the power of the McCarthy gang, but weak pitching has kept the Sox from challenging seriously. Here the veteran Lefty Grove shows three of Cronin's rookies how he grips the ball. The twirlers are Wilburn Butland (left), Grove, Herb Hash and Mickey Harris.

Tex Carleton In No-Hitter

Chicago Cubs Defeat Boston Bees With Homer in Tenth

By the Associated Press
NINE straight victories, climaxed by a no-hit pitching performance from a 33-year-old Texas cowhand who almost decided to quit baseball last winter and stay at home on the range, show that Brooklyn is taking baseball seriously and will have to be taken seriously in the National league.

Tex Carleton's no-hit 3-0 masterpiece against Cincinnati yesterday pointed up the fact that Brooklyn pitchers have allowed only 63 hits and 14 runs in nine games.

The homer that Pete Coscarart hit with two on in the fifth to score all the runs kept intact the Dodgers' average of a home run for every game since the start of the season.

Carleton, who came to the Dodgers from Milwaukee after having been relegated to the minors last year by the Chicago Cubs, was master of the Reds throughout, despite three Brooklyn errors, two in one inning. He struck out four and walked only two.

Get Two on Base
Passes and errors enabled the Reds to put men on second base in the second and fourth innings, but thereafter every Cincinnati player went down in order.

The veteran Jim Turner and Whitey Moore limited the Dodgers to five hits, sufficient in view of Carleton's performance and Coscarart's mighty bat.

Al Todd was the hero of the Chicago Cubs' 8-7 victory over the Boston Bees. The big catcher, benched because of weak hitting, was inserted in the lineup late in the game and produced a tenth-inning homer.

Boston knocked Claude Passeau out of the box in the fourth inning with a five-run spurge to take a 7-2 lead.

Leiber homered for the Cubs in the fifth to make the count 7-4. The Cubs added a run in the eighth on three singles, one by Manager Gabby Hartnett, who made his season's debut behind the plate, and tied the score in the ninth on four singles.

Bill Lee, who took up pitching duties in the last inning, was credited with the victory.

A 12-hit barrage by the Chicago White Sox subdued the American league's Boston Red Sox 9 to 4.

Every member of the Sox team hit safely and all but two of them scored. Eric McNair paced his mates with a home run and a single. Three singles, two walks and Mike Tresh's double scored five runs in the fourth inning.

Rigney Winning Hurler
Johnny Rigney held Boston to six hits, three in the sixth inning, when Jimmy Foxx pounded out his fourth homer of the season with two men on base.

The St. Louis Cardinals were rained out against the Giants yesterday, but the Pittsburgh Pirates were beaten for the fourth straight time, 6-2, by the Phillies, who piled up 12 hits.

Until the returns from Cincinnati were posted, the plaudits of the baseball world were all going to a 25-year-old southpaw of the St. Louis Browns, Emil Bidzili, who stopped the world champion New York Yankees 2-1 on two hits in his first start in the majors. The rookie from San Antonio gave up a run on a triple and a single in the first inning and then proceeded to hold the famous sluggers hitless the rest of the way.

The Cleveland Indians climbed back into exclusive possession of the lead in the American league with a 10-5 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics on Willis Hudlin's twelve-hit pitching and two homers each by Hal Trosky and Ken Keltner.

The Washington Senators bagged the Detroit Tigers 4, with Joe Haynes' steady hurling, getting support of a 13-hit Washington attack, including Gene Walker's double with the bases loaded.

Play Ball!

St. Therese softballers defeated McKinley school, 5 to 3, in a recent tilt.

Jefferson Sixth grade Bumble-busters downed Columbus Wildcats, 13 to 3, in a game at Jefferson school Tuesday. R. Kimball and G. Sherman formed the winning battery while F. Rex hurled and H. McGuire was behind the plate for the losers.

CARLETON PITCHES NO-HIT GAME

Carleton "Feels Great" Over His First No-Hit Victory

BY JOHN FRYE
CINCINNATI, Ohio.—Tex Carleton, discarded by the American league's Boston Red Sox, and an apparent "washout" looked at the world today from the heights of no-hit baseball fame.

The tall, curly-haired 33-year-old refugee from the American association pitched the undefeated Brooklyn Dodgers to a 3 to 0 triumph over Cincinnati yesterday.

A box to raise or keep worms in can be four feet long, three feet wide and three feet deep. The bottom should be left open though having crowspears to nail onto. To the bottom should be nailed first two thicknesses of copper wire or porch screen, and over this a stiff grade of galvanized one-fourth inch mesh screen. With a screen bottom of the sort where moisture can circulate up from below, or go down from above.

Place a layer of rich loam on the bottom of the box, and follow this with a layer of more or less well rotted sod, then another layer of loam and then a layer of sod, so alternating the two till the top is reached. You can place your worms in this and they will keep in good condition.

Every two weeks the earth should be carefully removed and the worms picked out and the dead or injured ones thrown away. New loam and sod is now placed in the box and the worms are returned with such new additions as desired. The worms will reproduce in these boxes as the result of which it is very easy to raise worms for sale. With worms selling in places for fifty cents a dozen it is easy to be seen where a few boxes will prove a profitable venture.

While the worms will find their food in the loam and sod they should also be fed. Coffee grounds mixed with corn-meal that has been softened, will prove excellent food. One can dig down below the first layer of sod and deposit the food. The worms will have little trouble in finding it.

Possibly the very best food that I know of, whether you are raising worms or merely keeping them over a certain period, is to take a quart of cheap corn syrup and dilute it with just enough water so that it will not be sticky. Obtain a number of rotted or decomposing gunny sacks that will tear as you pull them. Immerse these sacks in the syrup and, when filling the box, insert them in the center. You will find that the worms will thrive, and will, in fact, consume the entire sack or sacks, strange as this may seem. Worms so fed turn out to be fat, sleek and very active.

Keep all worm boxes in a moist, shaded place but not where they will be soaked with rain. In dry weather it is a good idea to insert pipes here and there into the center of the box and pour water in by means of a funnel to moisten, being sure not to over-do.

To toughen angleworms for fishing, place them in a box of sand and allow them to be there for a few days to a week. They will scour themselves of the dirt and their skins will toughen to a remarkable degree. Also they seem to become tremendously active, with a real snap and twist to them. When applied to the hook they will not break off as will the worm as it is taken out of loam, when, as is

Motorcycle Club Will Hold Hill Climb, May 26

Appleton Motorcycle club has received American Motorcycle association approval for a two star hill climb at Mosquito hill near New London on May 26.

The club now is in the midst of a membership drive and has purchased new uniforms. They have brown caps and breeches and tan shirts.

The club was represented at the A.M.A. meeting this winter at Milwaukee and received a safety award for no accidents during 1939.

Milwaukee.—Oratory is the "staff of life" for Bob Shurilla, Gary, Ind., hurdle star and high scorer of Marquette university's strong track team. But he's no forensics ace! Shurilla owns a public address system which he rents out to large gatherings here, and with which he is helping to pay expenses.

Morgan, Wilburn Benched by Heath

Rookies Will Replace Veterans in Milwaukee Brew Lineup

Milwaukee.—Rightfielder Eddie Morgan and shortstop Wimpy Wilburn will be on the sidelines when the Milwaukee Brewers open their American association home season here tomorrow afternoon against the Toledo Mud Hens.

Manager Mickey Heath, making the shakeup in an effort to find a winning combination, said he would put rookie Harold Peck in the outfield and replace the veteran Wilburn with Claude Corbitt, who was recently purchased on trial from the New York Yankees.

Morgan has had trouble finding his batting eye and Wilburn was plagued with a series of errors on the Brewer's disastrous road trip which produced only four victories in 10 starts.

The Brewers and the Toledo club will be feted at a public banquet tonight.

Minneapolis' high flying Millers will put their seven-game winning streak on the block tomorrow against Indianapolis in their first home game.

The largest crowd for Thursday's opener in the west probably will be at Kansas City where the defending champions take on Columbus, last place team. About 16,000 are expected.

The advance ticket sale indicates crowds of close to 10,000 will be on hand for St. Paul's opener with Louisville and Milwaukee's debut against Toledo.

S.S.A.C. Backs Softball Teams

Will Buy Equipment for Eight Girls, Eight Boys Squads

The South Side Athletic club will sponsor an extensive softball program for boys and girls this summer. At a meeting, this week at McKinley Junior High school, the S.S.A.C. voted to purchase balls and bats for the newly organized teams.

There will be eight girls teams and eight boys teams with two divisions in each group. Four teams will be composed of pupils in grades through the sixth and four will be composed of pupils from the seventh grade through the ninth.

Balls and bats also will be purchased for the young men's hardball team, which will play independent games. Plans also are being made for the future purchase of uniforms.

Four new members joined the S.S.A.C. at the meeting this week. Men over 17 years of age and residing in the wards on the south side of the river are eligible for membership.

Committee reports on the plans for the Tetulah park picnic June 16 were presented.

The next meeting is scheduled for 7:30 Monday evening, May 13, at McKinley school. The directors will meet Monday evening, May 6.

Best Baseball Bats Must Have Two Years Careful Seasoning

LOUISVILLE.—It takes almost as long to make a baseball bat as it does a small warship—around two years.

Of course, it doesn't take two years of actual work to turn out a bat. A bat can be made in a week, but the rest of the time is consumed in air-curing. The wood must be just right.

Here's how Hillerich and Bradshaw, the factory that makes most of the bats used in the major leagues, lists the chapters in the life of a bat:

After a tree is felled, it is cut into sections, which are split into what the factory calls billets. These are round or square and approximately 3 1/2 feet in length. The billets are shipped here, graded and seasoned for about two years. Then they are ready for the machines.

Two Trips To Lathe
They are given a rough turn on the lathe, inspected and put on the lathes again for final fashioning in to the weight, length and size of the various models. Then they are sanded, branded, lacquered or stained and prepared for shipment.

New York and Pennsylvania furnish most of the wood for these greatest of peacetime weapons. Most bats are made of ash. A few are hickory. Hickory bats are not so popular because the wood is heavier. More wood can be used in ash bats than hickory and that's what the ball players want. Some fungo bats are made of willow. Years ago many bats were willow. That's where one nickname—the "willow"—originated.

More Than 8,000 Models
Hillerich and Bradshaw has had more than 8,000 autograph models since 1910 but they list only 24 models this year. The major league models sell for around $2 but there are cheaper bats for college and sandlot play.

The first bats were crude bludgeons. When pitchers began throwing curves around 1867 there was a scramble for long bats. They grew to such lengths that in 1876 a rule was adopted limiting them to 42 inches. Bats must be round, not over 2 1/2 inches in diameter at the thickest part and entirely of hardwood in one piece.

Here's a baseball bat in the making. This "billet," part of an ash log, is about to get the first, rough turn on the lathe.

Higgins Elected New President of Commerce Group

Four New Directors Added to Board at Clintonville

Clintonville — Loyal T. Higgins was elected president of the Clintonville Association of Commerce at a meeting of the board of directors Tuesday noon at Hotel Marson. He will succeed Reuben Lendved as head of the commerce group. G. A. Jesse was elected vice president; and William T. Luedke was named secretary-treasurer. The board now consists of 21 directors. Four new ones having been added at last week's annual meeting of the association. They are Luedke, A. N. Begeman, Walter Martin and Alfred Berg. Directors reelected to three year terms at the recent annual meeting were Reuben Lendved, Edwin Buss, George Graff, Carl Schroeder, Earl Moldenhauer and L. A. Heuer.

Dr. Lewis Thomas, local optometrist, talked to the Rotary club Monday noon about the new contact lenses now being perfected. He pointed out the advantages of this type of lenses which could be worn by persons in lines of work which prohibit the wearing of regular eyeglasses. He also cited the disadvantages in the fitting, manufacture and wearing of the new lenses which are still in their early stages of development. Dr. Thomas said that at the rate that the new contact lenses are being improved and the enthusiasm with which they are being received, he believes that they will be generally worn by the present generation. This type of lens is placed directly in contact with the eyeball.

Francis M. Higgins, who was recently elected president of the Rotary club, was named delegate to the convention of Rotary International to be held this summer in Havana, Cuba.

Women's Clubs Meet
Colored motion pictures taken on his trip to Guatemala, Central America, were shown to the Clintonville and Marion Woman's clubs at a joint meeting Monday evening at the Finney public library by John Goergen of Shawano. He also talked about the country and its people.

The program was opened with an address of welcome by Mrs. C. B. Stanley, a past president of the local club. Musical numbers presented were: a vocal solo by Marjorie Slieg; a vocal duet by Shirley and Laverne Haskins; and a trombone selection by Wesley Thies.

After the program refreshments were served by the committee of which Mrs. Donald Russell is chairman. Mrs. Francis Higgins and Mrs. Anton Bohr poured. Nearly sixty persons were present, there being 25 visitors from Marion.

Be A Careful Driver

Spelvin Glad He Won't be Next United States President

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—George Spelvin, American, has been having a hard wrestle with his conscience and principles, his ignorance and superstitions, and a desire to chuck the whole business and go fishing.

He thinks the Germans under Hitler are out to conquer as much of the world as they believe they can police and exploit, and after Poland and Norway he has no doubt that if they feel equal to the job they will start up our street when the British and French are rounded up. Mr. Spelvin has recovered from his early belief that Hitlerism was an antidote for communism and has now come to regard it as a communist revolution with racial and nationalistic trimmings. He has noticed, in Czechoslovakia and, to a less extent, here in the United States, a parallel between the methods of the Stalin communists and the nazis.

He has noticed that the nazis established cells in the guide of patriotic or cultural societies which are devoted to Hitler in the same way that the bols acknowledge Stalin, and always pretend to want to save this country from the folly of war. A few years ago the communists were using the same line, preaching disarmament while Russia maintained the biggest, if the dumbest, army in the world, and exhorting Americans to beware the war-mongers who thought it might be a wise idea to whittle a few arrows of defense.

He wants the British and French to knock the ears off the nazis, and he would like to help them do it to the extent of selling them some soldier tools for cash and possibly, later on, on credit. But when he tries to picture the state of the world after the war, even with the Allies victorious, he can't see anything but more communism or Hitlerism. With these very countries owing so much on top of what they already owed themselves that they will never be able to pay off in any kind of money which is in existence they will have to go through the wringer and turn communist or nazi, which is the same thing, even if they should win.

Sees Future of Unrest and Disorder

He sees millions of men suddenly released from the ranks and restraints of the armies and dumped back on a system known by the big-busted name of capitalistic economy, which will be unable to receive them back into peaceful, productive occupations. He sees unrest and disorders ensuing and eventually the imposition of dictatorial or totalitarian governments with strong patriotic or nationalistic implications. Therefore, he can't see any reason for fighting nazism, except that it is a terrible thing.

Mr. Spelvin knows the Germans started this war, and far from believing that the British or French, or both, started or desired it, is inclined to blame them because they didn't take the initiative away from Hitler.

He thinks they should have knocked Hitler out of the Rhine that time, and certainly should have spent some money on arms instead of economizing and hoping for the best in order to keep down their taxes. Yet he figures that in order to keep step with Hitler in those rearming days they would have had to abandon their democratic liberties and their system of finance and commerce, constituting, in all, the very things for which they are now fighting.

Realizes That America Will be Paying for Party

The baffling part of it all to Mr. Spelvin is his fear, amounting to a gloomy belief, that the Allies will not be able to pay for the soldier tools which they will need from this country and which he wants them to have, and will presently require credit, even if they should win, and he comes then to the realization that the Americans would be paying for a large share of the party. He thinks this would be ruinous to the American economy added onto the present debt, and wonders what would happen then.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR BonZene Miracle Ointment for SKIN IRRITATIONS Safe—Soothing—Effective

As he sees it, the Allies and the United States are like the victim of the hoodlum's bag trick in which a man is placed in a sack with ropes running from his wrists and ankles to his neck and strangles himself by his own struggles to work himself free. He wants the Allies to win, because he hates naz-communism, but his troubled meditations on the subject always bring him back to a little proposition which he thought for himself, that in winning they would kill the thing they are fighting for, and, in losing would leave this country alone and, in the military sense as well as the economic, terribly flabby in a world of killers.

He is glad he will not be the next president of the United States.

AWARD CONTRACT
A contract for printing the courthouse bonds was awarded Monday by county officials to the Security Bank Note company, Chicago. The firm's bid on the printing was $119.

Kapp, Blich Tied for First Place in Shoot

Harold Blessman and Clarence Hoppe placed second, each with a 90 score. Third place went to Carl Radtke, Norbert Marx, Harry Salzman and Walter Hendricks, each scoring an 85.

The practice was a killing course, and the targets being arranged at 30, 40, 50 and 60 feet, designed so that they showed a man in full flight. Each policeman was allowed 12 seconds to shoot five shots at four targets.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

FROST GIANT

A thousand years ago the people of Norway were not Christians. Instead they believed in gods and goddesses, such as Thor, Odin, Balder and Freya. Here is an old Norse story which was told to explain "the beginning of the world."

King Olaf smashing image of old Norse god.

"At first there was no heaven or earth, but a great pit with a fountain. Out of the pit flowed 12 rivers, but their water froze into solid ice, and the pit itself came to be filled with ice.

"To the south there was a world of mist, and a warm wind blew from the mist. It melted the river ice, and clouds of vapor rose in the air. Out of the vapor, Ymir the Frost Giant was formed, also a cow.

"Over the bottomless pit there still was ice, and the frost on the ice had a taste of salt. The cow licked the frost, at a certain place, and a being with head, hair and body appeared. This being was a god, and he later was married to the daughter of a giant.

"Among the sons of the god was one named Odin. He and his brothers struck down the Frost Giant. From his bones, they made the mountains. His blood was turned into lakes and seas, his hair into trees.

"From an ash tree a man was made by the gods. A woman was made from an alder."

About 960 years ago, a Norse leader named Olaf made raids on England and France. We are told that he had a talk with a hermit, and then became Christian. The next king, also named Olaf, worked hard to make his people give up their old faith. He is known as St. Olaf, the patron saint of Norway.

A story about Olaf says that he once broke open the image of an old pagan god. From the image (so the story says) rats and lizards came out.

Today Norway's people are almost all Lutherans. Only a few thousand are Catholics, Jews or members of any church except the Lutheran. Norway has given freedom of religion to her people.

33-Year-Old Governor Who Awakened GOP Gets Chance to Do His Stuff at Parley

BY JACK WILSON
St. Paul, Minn.—(P)—Just a little over two years ago people began hearing talk of a young lawyer in South St. Paul who wanted to be governor of Minnesota.

His name was Harold E. Stassen. Old-timers shrugged; never heard of him.

Next June 24 people all over the country will turn on their radios to hear Governor Stassen deliver the keynote speech of the national Republican convention at Philadelphia.

People who never heard of him two years ago know now that he's only 33 years old and too young to run for President, himself; that he was only 31 when he rode a wave of votes into the governor's office and swamped a powerful Farmer-Labor regime.

He Woke Up The GOP
They know he gave the state Republican party a blood transfusion that revived it from eight years of lethargy; that he shook up the state's business administration, and virtually banished labor warfare from a section that had had more than its share of bloody strikes.

They don't know much about his private life. His intimates insist there isn't much to know. His salary is $7,000 a year. He lives on it, comfortably but quietly, in a little house he built on a Mississippi river bluff in South St. Paul. The house, he said when he moved in last spring, is complete with a mortgage, like the houses of most young men in their first $7,000-a-year job.

Takes His Work Home
Mrs. Stassen runs the house. She attends occasional women's organization meetings, but stays in the background. A slender, dark-haired, attractive young woman she looks tiny besides her towering, sandy-haired husband. Currently her major concern is the care of young Glen, the three-year-old son.

The demands of public clamoring for the governor's attention don't leave him much time. Whenever he does escape for an evening with his family, he customarily puts in several hours with a dictating machine, for conning reports.

At meeting the public and the press, Stassen reveals an understanding of details that has surprised political veterans.

His works best against bitter opposition. A year ago he faced a "re-

GOV. HAROLD E. STASSEN
A new face in high Republican councils bel lobby" march. There were 1,500 marchers, bitter against Stassen and the Republican administration. They loudly demanded a special relief session of the legislature.

Stassen invited half a dozen leaders into his office, asked them what they wanted. They told him people were starving.

The governor tossed a pencil and a pad of paper across his desk. "Just write down the names of any who are starving," he said, "and I'll get food for them. Nobody is going to starve while I am here."

Nobody picked up the pencil. Stassen went out on the capitol steps to meet the crowd. Somebody booed.

The governor turned to the hecklers. "Of course we're probably going to disagree. That's no reason we shouldn't preserve the spirit of give and take, and of fair criticism."

There was no more booing—and no more marches on the statehouse. A few weeks ago he went up against the biggest test of the labor policy he inaugurated in an attempt to end the industrial strife that has flared in Minneapolis and St. Paul for years.

Kept The Lights Burning
Employee of the power company that lights the two cities threatened to walk out. Signs pointed to a blackout.

Stassen called both sides to his office. Laborers went in first. They came out, and company officials, equally grim, went in.

As the alternate conferences continued, both sides began to relax. The word went around that "The chief is talking turkey." Presently both sides announced they would try to iron out differences. The lights stayed on.

No one, including Stassen, knows today what he is going to say to the Republicans next June 24. But it is reasonably certain that he will talk turkey.

Prices of Wheat Drop but Regain Portion of Loss

Selling Linked With Continued Heavy Marketing of Grain

Chicago—(P)—Wheat prices tumbled as much as three cents a bushel today to the lowest levels since before the invasion of Scandinavia, but then recovered some of the loss.

Selling in connection with continued heavy marketing of grain and Rome reports indicating there will be no sudden change in Italy's non-belligerent position uncovered stop-loss liquidation that gained headway as prices declined. Liquidation of May contracts, on which first deliveries were made today, also was a market factor while the trade had several reports of improved and favorable crop conditions.

Receipts were: wheat seven cars, corn 77, oats seven. Wheat closed 1½-2½ lower than yesterday, May $1.04½-1.05½, July $1.04½-1.05½, corn 1½-2½ down, May 64, July 64½-1; oats 1½-2½ lower.

Advertising of Natural Cheese Is 'Crying Need'

Kuening Says Lack of Uniformity in Product Can be Overcome

An advertising and merchandising campaign for natural cheese, backed up by the dairy quality improvement program, was set forth as the "crying need" in the Wisconsin cheese industry by L. G. Kuening, chief of the dairy division of the state department of agriculture and markets, in a talk before the Appleton Rotary club yesterday noon in the Conway hotel.

Kuening said that natural cheese is handicapped by a lack of uniformity in competition with the processed product, but that this shortcoming can be overcome through a raising of the standards in cheese making, clever merchandising, and an aggressive advertising campaign.

He told the Rotarians that the Wisconsin dairy industry already has contributed $100,000 for an advertising campaign. The money spent for advertising Wisconsin dairy products will be in proportion to that which was donated by the milk, butter, and cheese producers.

Wisconsin a few years ago produced 70 per cent of the nation's cheese, Kuening said, but that percentage has dropped to 50. "The state is producing just as much now as it ever was, but the consumption of cheese is increasing."

Sales Held Back

Kuening said that the sale of natural cheese is being held back because "the housewife who finds a type of natural cheese she likes in a grocery store frequently is unable to buy the same product when she returns." This is a fault of the industry that can be cured through the raising of standards and the development of cheese packaging, the division head explained. Kuening said further that because of its bulkiness, Swiss cheese is "hard to find" in many Wisconsin grocery stores and that proper packaging would adjust this situation.

Outlining the dairy improvement quality program sponsored first in Outagamie county, Kuening declared that state graders "have already reported a decided improvement in the quality of Outagamie county cheese."

He said he was gratified over the way the farmers have cooperated in the program and that it is "going much better and faster than we expected."

Urges Vaccination to Prevent Sleeping Sickness in Horses

Wisconsin farmers who trust that sleeping sickness in horses will not be prevalent this summer owing to the low incidence of the disease last year may discover too late that they, themselves, have been caught napping, the state department of agriculture warns in a bulletin to County Agent J. F. Magnus.

"Failure to vaccinate against encephalomyelitis would be unwise, in view of the history of the disease," Dr. V. S. Larson, chief of the department's livestock sanitation division, cautioned. "If the disease runs true to form it may be expected to recur in Wisconsin with increased virulence either this year or next."

The history of encephalomyelitis in western states, Dr. Larson explained, shows that the disease would appear for a few years, reach a peak, and subside to the extent that horse owners would be misled into believing it had disappeared. However, after one or two years of relief the disease would recur with increased severity.

Improved methods of manufacturing vaccines for sleeping sickness in horses have lowered the cost of the product, Dr. Larson pointed out. In addition, veterinarians have reduced the charges for vaccinating to a minimum to encourage horse owners to safeguard the lives of their horses.

"It should be remembered," he said, "that the vaccine deteriorates rapidly unless stored properly. If stored by inexperienced persons it might lose its potency entirely. Caution must also be used in administering the vaccine, since only healthy horses can be vaccinated safely."

BUILDING PERMIT

More Vegetables To be Raised in State This Year

Wisconsin Canners Contracting for Larger Acreages for 1940

Acreages of vegetables for canning and processing this year are expected to be much larger than in 1939, according to a crop reporting service bulletin received by County Agent J. F. Magnus.

Wisconsin usually leads all other states in the total acreages of vegetables for canning. Estimates of acreage and production of vegetables for canning in 1939 showed sharp decreases in the size of the crops as compared with the previous year. Because of the large carry-over of vegetables from the 1938 crop, canners contracted for smaller crops in Wisconsin as well as the other vegetable producing states.

This year much larger acreages of some vegetables are expected to be planted than last year. For a group of north-central states, of which Wisconsin is a part, there is expected to be an increase of 36 per cent in the acreage of peas for canning compared with the planted acreage last year.

Other increases in acreages in the Wisconsin area include an increase of 58 per cent for cucumbers, 57 per cent for beets, about 34 per cent for sweet corn. The acreage of snap beans is expected to be about 12 per cent above that of 1939.

For the nation as a whole acreages of vegetables for canning and processing are expected to be much larger than those planted in 1939. Planting intentions indicate that the acreage of peas for canning will be 27 per cent larger and there will be an increase of 42 per cent for cucumbers, 37 per cent for beets, 30 per cent for sweet corn, and nearly 8 per cent for snap beans.

Gradual Elimination Of Bang's Disease Is Shown in Test Records

Gradual elimination of Bang's disease from dairy herds is shown in figures received by J. F. Magnus, Outagamie county agent, from the state department of agriculture on the state testing program.

Retesting of herds, according to the report, has brought about a steady reduction in percentage of infected herds. Of 58,135 herds tested for the first time, 27,479, or 47 per cent were found to contain some infection. But, in 736 herds which it was necessary to retest eight times, only 270, or less than half of one per cent of the original total, showed any infection on the last retest.

The original test on 1,053,718 cattle in these herds showed 153,247 reactors or about 14 per cent. This percentage was likewise brought down through retesting. On 25,065 head which it was necessary to retest eight times, only 778 reactors were found on the final test, or less than one-tenth of one per cent of the number originally tested.

per cent with a tolerance of 1 per cent to 43 per cent with a tolerance of 1 per cent.

The Brick cheese order for the first time classifies and regulates the manufacture, holding and grading of a type of cheese known as Daisy Brick.

All standards and regulations for Brick cheese are now grouped within one general order. The new order for Muenster cheese also combines all standards and regulations for that type of cheese.

State 4-H Enrolment Last Year Was 34,152

Total 4-H club enrolment in Wisconsin last year was 34,152, of which 16,742 were boys and 17,410 were girls, according to a report received by Miss Irene Skutley, Outagamie county home demonstration agent, from the state 4-H headquarters. There were 1,947 organized clubs which carried on more than 49,500 projects. Assisting in carrying out the 4-H club program were 2,791 adult leaders and 1,678 junior leaders. Of the 1,947 clubs, 574 had 100 per cent achievement records. Taking part in state activities were 1,042 demonstration teams and 2,293 judging teams. The average county enrolment was 488. The club camps had represented 54 counties and 8,417 members.

New Standards on Cheese in Effect

Moisture Content on Wisconsin State Brand Raised 1 Per Cent

New orders raising the moisture content of Wisconsin State Brand Brick and Muenster cheese 1 per cent have been announced by Ralph E. Ammon, according to County Agent J. F. Magnus. The orders were approved by the state board of agriculture following a study of testimony taken at hearings on both types, and are effective starting today.

Under the new regulations the moisture content of Wisconsin State Brand Brick cheese is raised from 41 per cent with a tolerance of 1 per cent to 42 per cent with a tolerance of 1 per cent. The moisture content of Wisconsin State Brand Muenster cheese is raised from 42

Hybrid Corn Planting Rates Must Be Adjusted to Soil Conditions

The time-tested rule for planting open-pollinated corn in southern Wisconsin, three kernels per hill for husking corn and four for silage, is found to be about right with hybrid strains, according to a state department of agriculture bulletin received by County Agent J. F. Magnus.

Agonomists at the University of Wisconsin have found that five kernels to the hill produced slightly more silage to the acre than four kernels, but this advantage was gained at the expense of more lodging and broken stalks. It was observed that crowding too many plants into a hill holds back root development and upsets nutrition of the corn so that it is more susceptible to stalk-rotting organisms.

Two-year trials on grain production showed the same disadvantages with high planting rates. Crowding the plants resulted in poor quality grain. The ears became smaller and showed a higher proportion of light, chaffy kernels as the planting rate was increased beyond four kernels to the hill.

The results suggest that a rate of either three or four kernels to the hill may be justified with husking corn, depending upon the soil, the agonomists state. Under average conditions of moderately good soil, a three-kernel rate usually will be most satisfactory. Where the soil is poor, it is important to plant no more than three kernels per hill at the most, and probably two kernels would give better results in some cases. On very fertile soil, four kernels may have no serious disadvantage, and will produce somewhat better yields.

Hybrid corn cannot produce bumper crops unless adequate soil nutrients are available. That is the reason it is important to adjust the planting rate to soil conditions, and why the crop usually gives best results where commercial fertilizer is applied.

Report Decline in Horse Population

Number of Animals in Wisconsin Lowest in Nearly 50 Years

Spring work will begin on Wisconsin farms with the horse population the smallest in nearly a half-century, according to information received by J. F. Magnus, county agricultural agent, from the state and federal crop reporting services.

The last estimate showed there were 510,000 horses in the state, or 5,000 head less than a year ago. The horse population has declined steadily since 1937 when there were 531,000 head in Wisconsin.

With a decrease in the number of horses and a lower price per head than a year ago, the total value of all horses in the state is estimated at about $44 million dollars—more than six million dollars below the total value shown for 1939.

Wisconsin's horse population declined steadily from 1915 until 1935 when the first increase in horse numbers was recorded. The present horse population is the smallest since 1895 when it was the same as at present.

Although some increase has taken place in the number of colts raised in the state as compared with the number raised in the years following 1915, the number has not been great enough to replace the horses which have died. The present decline in horse numbers is attributed to several causes.
